CONGRESS CONSIDERS STEEL PROBE

Father of Six Train Victim Near Smithton

A father of six children was killed when struck by a train yesterday and eight other persons were injured in district auto accidents over the weekend.

Emil Paoli, 56, of Fitz Henry, was killed instantly when struck by a Baltimore and Ohio passenger train near Smithton.

A stone quarry laborer, Paoli was enroute home when the mishap occurred at 12:30 a.m. Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen Yoney, of Monessen, said death was caused by shock, a fractured skull, broken neck and internal injuries.

Yoney said the victim had been shopping in Smithton and was taking a short cut along the tracks to his home in Fitz Henry. The accident occurred on a bend in the track about a half mile north of Smithton.

Unable to Stop

The train's engineer, C. L. Allen, of Hyndman, told Yoney he was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting Paoli.

The body was removed to the Barthel Funeral Home in Smithton. Arrangements are incomplete.

Four persons were injured, at least one seriously, in a two car accident on Route 51 near the Banning coal mine in Rostraver Twp. last night around 10 o'clock.

State police identified the drivers as Jerry Moore, 29, of 116 Water St., West Newton, and Esther Burkes, 47, of Box 338, Belle Vernon, R. D.

Moore sustained severe cuts while Burkes suffered body bruises. Both were described in good condition today at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Two occupants of the Moore car were also injured. Ruth Moore, 30, of 728 Linden Way, Donora, was reported in serious condition at the hospital, suffering from cuts, a concussion and possible skull fracture. Reported in good condition was Marvin Paul Rodabaugh, 26, of 728 Linden Way, Donora, who sustained a back injury.

Police said the Moore car was

Eisenhowers in 41st Anniversary Celebration Today

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower today celebrated their 41st wedding anniversary.

And they celebrated it quietly at home — the home they always wanted — with only a few old friends on hand.

The gifts they gave each other to mark the event were not announced. But they had one gift for each other that they didn't care who knew about: Bubbling good humor and laughter.

They showed it plainly Sunday evening when they helped this town mark its own great anniversary: The epic Civil War battle of Gettysburg.

The President and First Lady, each grinning gaily, posed briefly arm-in-arm for photographers before taking front-row seats at a ceremony marking the 94th anniversary of Gen. Robert E. Lee's heroic but unsuccessful attempt to crack the Union armies on the fields bordering the Eisenhowers' farm.

Gettysburg Mayor William G. Weaver asked the 1,500 townspeople crammed in the high school auditorium to "give the bride and groom of 41 years a rousing cheer." The Eisenhowers, blushing a little, stood and waved happily to their neighbors and the roar of applause.

Named Official Of Rockwell Co.

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Munro Corbin, controller of Rockwell Manufacturing Company since 1951, has been elected vice president and assistant to the president it was announced today.

Corbin was succeeded as controller by John T. Farrell, assistant controller since 1953.

Willard F. Rockwell Jr., company president, said Corbin's new duties would include "co-ordination of all staff and management committee functions at the company's national headquarters here, as well as long-range planning and special assignments."

Rockwell said Corbin also would be in charge of the company's acquisition program.

Newspapers Raise Price to 10 Cents

NEW YORK (UP) — Week-day editions of the New York Times and the New York Herald-Tribune were increased today to 10 cents in all areas outside of a 100-mile radius from New York City.

The price of both newspapers will remain at five cents within the 100-mile zone, which includes the suburban areas of New Jersey and Connecticut and Philadelphia.

Kroger Store Employes Get Wage Increase

PITTSBURGH (UP) — More than 1,600 employes of the Kroger Company's 49 food markets in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio received pay increases today under a strike-averting agreement between the company and the Food Employes Union, Local 590.

Members of the union ratified the settlement at a meeting here Sunday averting a walkout set for last midnight. The union estimated the money benefits provided by the new contract as equivalent to 24 cents an hour per worker.

Female clerks got increases of $6 to $8.50 a week, male clerks $8.50 to $11.50, head meat cutters $8.50, journeymen meat cutters $12.50, and cashiers $12.50.

Head cashiers who have been receiving $6 a week extra for their work will be placed on a fixed rate making their total raise $19.

The agreement also provided an extra holiday and four weeks vacation after 20 years of service.

HURRICANE, TIDAL WAVES FLATTEN, ENGULF CAMERON — Destruction and death are graphically depicted in this aerial view of Cameron, La., a fishing village virtually destroyed by a nine-foot tidal wave following in the wake of hurricane Audrey. The day before, 105-mile-an-hour winds battered the town. The unofficial death count in hurricane-devastated Louisiana is reported to be in the hundreds.

Wheeling Downs Money Held in Escrow Today

WHEELING, W. Va. (UP)—The $1,780,000 paid by Hazel Park Racing Assn. of Detroit for Wheeling Downs race track was held in escrow today.

Federal Judge Harry E. Watkins and attorneys representing all interested parties agreed to withhold distribution of the money until a 20-day appeal time limit has been cleared.

There have been no definite notices of appeal from Watkins' approval of Hazel Park's upset bid over the original $1,500,000 high bid by John B. Kelly and associates at an auction sale June 12.

Wesley Tinker, local attorney representing Kelly's interests, said he had not learned whether the Philadelphia millionaire would file an appeal.

Such an appeal would have to be made in the U. S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va.

In the meantime, Robert C. Leavitt, new general manager of the track under Hazel Park ownership, said he was going ahead with plans for opening the Downs for a summer racing meet July 10.

Pinball Owners Have Week to Answer Judge

Owners of 41 pinball machines seized by police in June 20 raids on three Fayette County communities, have one week to file answers to a rule asking why the machines should not be destroyed as gambling devices.

Judge Eustace H. Bane said last night he will set a date for a formal hearing after the July 8 "return day."

Formal petitions requesting the Fayette County court permission to destroy the machines were presented last week by Frank L. Lawley Jr., deputy state attorney general.

One petition charges that 24 of the devices are unlawful gaming machines in their own right and the other claims that 17 are unlawful and were confiscated while "they were in the process of being used in violation of the gaming laws of the commonwealth."

The machines were seized in raids on business places in Uniontown, Brownsville and Connellsville.

Veterans Memorial Week in Charleroi

Veterans Memorial Week opens in Charleroi today with parades and fireworks featuring the activities.

A military parade will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 p. m., while a pet and bicycle parade will be held Wednesday evening.

The annual fireworks display will be held Thursday night at 11 o'clock.

BARBERS' VACATION NOTICE
Barber Shops in Belle Vernon & North Belle Vernon will be closed from July 4 to July 15 (Inc.)

Tidal Wave Death Toll to Exceed 400, Governor Says

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UP) — Recovery and burial crews speeded up their efforts today to get underground the bodies of human beings and the carcasses of thousands of animals killed by Hurricane Audrey. The dead were becoming a serious problem.

Dick Roberts, identification officer for the Calcasieu Parish sheriff, said 175 bodies had been processed through the warehouse on the Lake Charles waterfront, where all bodies from the devastated Louisiana coastal area are received.

Gov. Earl Long said the dead and missing in the hurricane and a giant tidal wave that came with it will exceed 400. In addition to those that came through the warehouse, there was no telling how many survivors on the coast had simply buried their dead without telling anybody.

Carpenters at Lake Charles worked in assembly lines, making coffins. On the coast in the devastated towns and villages—Cameron, Creole, Grand Chenier — crews in boats patrolled the marshes, looking for more bodies.

Seek Poisonous Snakes

Deputy Sheriff Sam Mazilly sent a crew to the Sweet Lake - Big Lake area with pistols today to shoot cottonmouth moccasins which are striking at rescue crews.

The shakes normally live along the edges of the bayous in the brush. The tidal wave drove thousands of them up into the villages and towns where they angrily strike at anything that comes by.

About 75 men were working on cleanup details in the Sweet Lake-Big Lake area. They used shot-

Young Brothers Are Sought for Area Burglary

Rostraver Twp. Constable Harry Weightman was looking today for two young brothers he said burglarized a store in Collinsburg over the weekend.

According to Weightman, the youths took $125 in cash and several pocket watches and cigaret lighters from the Jummy Yex Store. The burglary apparently took place early Saturday morning.

"We know who the boys are and we have already recovered $25.60 of the stolen money from their father," said Weightman.

"However the youngsters have left home and we haven't been able to apprehend them as yet."

Weightman said one of the boys was 12 and the other 15.

District Speech Competitors Lose

District competitors in speech competition in the National Forensic League tournament in Lexington, Ky., were defeated in final rounds Friday, according to reports reaching here today.

Karen Duda, a Monessen High School student, was among the finalists.

'Pike Defense Counsel Presents Technical Data

HARRISBURG (UP) — Defense counsel in the Pennsylvania Turnpike trial today produced a mass of technical data in an attempt to convince the jury that mine filling work beneath the Northeastern Extension was necessary to prevent subsidence of the roadway.

Harry L. Luke, an engineer for the Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp., Reading, identified five photographs which he said showed cave-ins of abandoned anthracite mines beneath the roadway which his firm said should be filled in to prevent further subsidence.

The state charges that Manu-Mine, together with top Turnpike Commission officials conspired to defraud the commission of "millions of dollars" through unnecessary mine flushing work at an exorbitant price.

Luke, the first witness called by the defense since the Commonwealth rested its case Friday, was surrounded on the stand by a mass of records, maps and charts, allegedly in support of the Manu-Mine work, for which the commission was charged almost eight million dollars.

Luke told the jury that he had participated in the selection of the route of the turnpike across the 12-mile stretch of the anthracite field in Luzerne and Lackawanna counties, which is pockmarked with nine voids. In picking the route, he said, he had personally inspected it "wherever it was possible to gain access" to the underground hazard.

Miss Mon Valley Is Finalist in the State

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (UP) — Miss Pennsylvania of 1957 is blonde, blue-eyed Jennie Blatchford of Hollidaysburg, crowned here on Saturday night.

The 23-year-old queen is 5-feet, 4-inches tall, weighs 110 pounds and measures 35-23-35. She holds a Masters Degree in speech therapy from Northwestern University, and says she wants to make speech therapy her career.

Miss Blatchford played the piano and sang and entered the talent division as a baton twirler. The very suave and poised blonde who was Miss Central Pennsylvania, said she has no romantic attachments.

Runnerup was Miss Jefferson-Clearfield County, Juanita Louise Pelletier, 20, of DuBois, who won a $1,000 dramatics prize as the "contestant showing the most promise in the field of dramatics."

Other finalists included: Miss Delaware County, Mildred Jeffries, 19, of Glen Riddle; Miss Philadelphia, Eleanore Herling, 18, and Miss Mon Valley, Carolyn Ghrist, 21, of Claysville.

Miss Ghrist was chosen to represent the Mon Valley at a contest at Twin Coaches by the Monessen Junior Women's Club.

Also taking part in the state pageant was Mrs. Patricia Gingladi Bell, of Belle Vernon, who sang several songs. Mrs. Bell was Miss Mon Valley of 1956 and finished first in the talent division last year.

One of the sentimental favorites was 20-year-old Peggy Barnes of Erie, who made quite an impression in her coral blue bathing suit.

Sally Rae Stauffer, 20, from Erie, Miss Centre County and Sandra Ann Weidman, 20, of Manheim, Miss Ephrata, tied in the Miss Congeniality Contest. Miss Stauffer rocked the crowd of 2,000 with her impression of a calypso dance. Miss Weidman held the audience captive with a dramatic reading.

Change Parking At A&P Lot

At the request of Monessen police, new parking regulations were in effect today at the A&P parking lot at the corner of Sixth St. and Donner Ave.

Police Chief Michael Kuvinka said that beginning today the only entry to the lot will be by way of Donner Ave. The exit will lead on to Sixth St., which is now one-way.

Parking stalls have been altered to conform with the new regulations.

Minor Blaze at Hilltop Site

Monessen firemen Saturday afternoon extinguished a minor blaze near the corner of Sixth St. and Reed Ave.

Officials said a trash pile near the building, formerly occupied by Kirk's Drug Store, was ignited by unknown persons. No damage was reported.

Economists Say Price Boost Is Not Inflationary

WASHINGTON (UP) — Administration economists do not see a serious inflationary threat in the steel price hike though they wish it had not occurred, it was learned authoriatively today.

Their chief worry over the $6-a-ton increase put into effect today by U. S. Steel Corp. and other producers is whether it will, by suggesting a general price rise, discourage consumer buying generally. In other words, if the public thinks prices everywhere are going up it may cut down on purchases of many things.

The economists do not think the steel rise will have this effect, nor do they believe it will have a "particularly serious" consequence in pushing a whole range of other prices upward.

This viewpoint was obtained by the United Press from reliable sources as Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey went before the Senate Finance Committee for possible public questioning about the steel hike.

Sen. Albert M. Gore (D-Tenn.) has said he will question Humphrey on the steel price rise. Prior to the announced increase Humphrey told the committee last week only that he hoped the industry would consider the long-range effects of a rise. The secretary has been reported slated for the chairmanship of National Steel Corp. when he leaves the government this summer.

Opposed to Controls

His successor in the Treasury post, Robert B. Anderson, has told the committee he wished "the steel increase had not taken place." He said the increase means a probable boost in many consumer items.

The steel price increase has touched off Democratic demands for congressional investigations. The Senate Anti - Monopoly Subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) announced plans Saturday for an inquiry into price rises by steel and other industries.

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) said Sunday night he thought U.S. Steel's boost would "certainly contribute toward inflation." He added that wage and price controls "might stop inflation, but would bring worse evils."

U.S. Steel's announcement came one day after President Eisenhower again urged industry and labor to exercise restraint to help hold down inflation. The President strongly opposed wage - price controls as alien to the American way of life.

Administration economists feel the inflationary situation is "troublesome" but not sufficiently dangerous to call for "drastic" government intervention. They see the steel increase as "another notch" in the inflation leader but not necessarily an open sesame to a runaway spiral.

These officials were not greatly surprised at the steel action. They felt steel probably was priced "below the market" in the vernacular of economists — in other

Pittsburgh Steel Still Undecided

Pittsburgh Steel Co. still hasn't decided on a price increase.

A company spokesman said today that price schedules are being studied. He predicted a statement on a possible price increase in "a very short time."

United States Steel Corp. announced price increases of about $6 per ton last Friday. Since then, several other steel firms have disclosed similar price boosts to offset automatic wage increases.

Wage Increase Requires Many Payroll Changes

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The three-year contract which ended the 34-day 1956 steel strike has the mathmeticians of the industry toiling at their calculators and electronic brains.

Under the terms of the agreement, which gave steel a July 1 free of strike threat this year, the payroll figures for 700,000 steelworkers go up in seven different categories today.

Putting into effect the increased benefits, which the United Steelworkers said total 16.51 cents an hour per man, entails nearly five million payroll changes.

On top of this, the management figure men have been busy at the giant task of tabulating increased costs and compiling higher price schedules. Steel officials said prices had to be boosted to at least partially cover their higher labor bill, which they said went up 21 cents an hour per man.

U.S. Steel Opens Parade

U.S. Steel opened the price parade last Thursday with the announcement its basic steel price would go up $6 a ton starting today. Other big companies immediately began announcing similar price changes.

The price issue was virtually the only major disagreement between the union officials and industry executives which was not settled by last year's strike-forged agreement.

Steel officials have called the in-

Officers Reelected For Civic Center

Glenn Barnes was reelected chairman of the Memorial Civic Center Management Board at a reorganization meeting Friday at the Civic Center.

Others reelected were Edward G. Lhota, vice chairman; Carl R. Chaverin, treasurer and George Cieply, secretary.

Catharine Harris was chairman of the nominating committee and Harold T. Baker and Mrs. Olive Travis assisted.

Dean at Allegheny

John R. O. McKean has been named dean of students at Allegheny College, according to an announcement today by Lawrence L. Pettetier, Allegheny president.

Lions Club Show to Get Under Way at 8

A two-hour variety show will precede the big fireworks display at Memorial Stadium on Wednesday.

A spokesman for the sponsoring Lions Club said today the evening's entertainment will begin promptly at 8 p. m.

The fireworks — more than $1,000 worth — will be touched off at about 10 p. m.

A highlight of the variety show will be the appearance of Rosalie Culp, the Monessen girl who was recently selected as Miss Pennsylvania in the 1957 Miss Universe contest.

Miss Culp will make her final public appearance before participating in the Miss Universe finals in Long Beach, Calif.

Angie Bates and his 15 piece orchestra will provide the music for the show. They will appear through the courtesy of the Mon Valley chapter of the musicians union.

Bobby Mandarino and Dan (Boots) Salotti, popular "end men" in the Lions Club's annual minstrel show, will serve as masters of ceremonies. They will also keep things lively with a clowning routine.

Another act will be the Lions own singing quartet — The Four Specs. Comprising that group are Dave Victoria, Walter Labeka, Jimmy Tucci and Joseph Lancas.

Fred Stockus and Julio Gelli have both agreed to appear as featured vocalists.

There will be no admission charge for the show or fireworks.

However, the Lions request that all children be accompanied by their parents.

Burglaries, Accident Keeping Police Busy

Two burglaries and an auto accident kept Monessen police busy over the weekend.

James Womack, of Charleroi R. D. 1, is being held today in City Jail for further questioning in connection with a watermelon theft.

Patsy Fronzaglio, of 1252 Highland Ave., reported to police that a gang of boys stole 40 watermelons from his produce truck which was parked in front of his home early this morning.

Fronzaglio chased the boys to Pomona St., where the boys abandoned their get-a-way car, which still contained several of the melons.

A police check revealed that the owner of the car was Womack. He was picked up and questioned.

According to police, Womack claimed his car was taken away by several boys. However he was not able to identify any of them.

Nick Milinovich, of 809 Athalia Ave., reported to police yesterday morning that his house had been ransacked.

Milinovich said a cellar window had been forced open. He reported 41 silver dollars missing.

According to police, the theft apparently took place Saturday between 3:30 p.m. and 11:45 p.m. when the house was unoccupied.

The auto accident on the police docket occurred near the Pittsburgh Steel Co. parking lot at 16th St.

Roosevelt Phillips, of 272 Third St., Donora, told police that his parked car was damaged when backed into by a car driven by Nathaniel Jerome Walker, of 14 Hickory St. Scottdale.

Senate Clearing Way for Long Civil Rights Battle

'Must Bills' to Be Considered Before Filibuster

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate planned quick action this week on a number of "must" bills to get them out of the way before the lengthy and bitter battle over expected civil rights begins next week.

The Senate GOP leadership, supported by some northern Democrats, will propose some time next week that floor action be taken on President Eisenhower's civil rights bill.

Southern senators are expected thereupon to embark immediately upon a filibuster against it. If the filibuster goes on at great length a number of bills may have to be put off until next session.

Estimates on how long the talkathon will last vary from 10 days to a month or more. While the talk drags on the Senate will be unable to act on other legislation.

So action is being pushed on the military appropriations bill and legislation to limit the right of criminal defendants in certain cases to inspect FBI reports. Both measures are in committee. The Senate also plans to pass other routine legislation this week.

House leaders are considering two plans to take account of the Senate legislative setup. They may decide to continue in session hoping to wind up late in August or they may take a recess until the Senate completes its rights fight.

Other congressional news:

Senate Commerce Committee has recommended a broad investigation into the alleged monopolistic practices of the major radio-television networks. A House judiciary subcommittee already has urged such an inquiry. The report, on which the Senate committee withheld comment pending comments from the federal communications commission and the Justice Department, charges that television executives of the three networks "in effect determine what the entire nation watches."

Governors: Rep. L. H. Fountain (D-N.C.) said a preliminary survey showed that most governors do not favor any "major transfer of responsibility" for federal aid programs. Fountain is chairman of a House subcommittee which is now completing a report on questionnaires it sent all state governors and many mayors and county officials last year.

Trade: House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass.) said the Red Chinese government would fall within two years if the west refused to trade with it. "If they do not have the trade of the capitalist nations, we won't have to worry about them too much," he said. He added that they need trade much worse than we do."

Security: Chairman John E Moss (D-Calif.) of House government information subcommittee revealed that Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., is the official named as blocking publication of data showing newsmen breached security in publishing secret documents. Chairman Loyd Wright of a bipartisan commission on government security said in a report by his group that an unnamed official was withholding the information. Moss said Wright revealed Brownell's name in a letter sent to the subcommittee.

AEC Extends Contract with Westinghouse

CHICAGO (UP) — The Atomic Energy Commission today announced its research and development contract with Westinghouse Electric Corp., first signed in 1948, has been extended to Sept. 30, 1959.

The announcement, issued through the AEC operations office in Lemont, Ill., near here, said the agreement provides for continuation of at least seven projects started under the original contract. The projects include completing the nation's first full-scale atomic power generating plant at Shippingport, Pa., and the design and development of atomic power plants for cruisers and fleet-type, high - speed attack submarines.

Refueling of the first atomic-power submarine, the Nautilus, for which the firm designed and built the power plant, was among the projects again assigned to Westinghouse.

The AEC also announced that it has purchased from Westinghouse for $400,000 the company's Bettis Field property near Pittsburgh, Pa., but that Westinghouse would continue to run operations there.

The renewed contract was a cost plus-fixed-fee agreement. An AEC spokesman said that under that type of arrangement, a total of 65 million dollars was committed to the firm during the last fiscal year including fees of about $1,400,000.

Climber Survives

PETRESINA, Switzerland (UP) —Rescue workers Sunday brought out the lone survivor of 10 Italian climbers who plunged down the face of Piz Palue Mountain Sat.

Man Clings to Drum In Ocean Eight Days

(Prudencio Augusto Perdomo, 48, survived the sinking of a Cuban motor ship by clinging to a floating oil drum for eight days. He was brought to shore early this morning and gave this exclusive, first hand account to Hank Day, United Press string correspondent at Key West, Fla.)

By PRUDENCIO PERDOMO

KEY WEST, Fla. (UP) — I had truly given up hope. But my prayers must have been answered.

All I did from the time our ship sank was cling to an oil drum and pray. I also thought of my wife and four children in Havana.

(The tanker S. S. Mobilgas found Perdomo floating in the ocean at 4 a.m. Sunday. He was 340 miles southwest of St. Petersburg, Fla., and had been in the water for eight days. Perdomo's ship, the 142-foot, 388-ton Cuban motor vessel Tropical capsized and sank at 11:30 p.m. June 21, in the Yucatan Channel off the western end of Cuba. He is thus far the sole survivor. Ten other men are missing.)

(The Mobilgas radioed the U.S Coast Guard, which sent a 52-foot cutter out to pick up Perdomo. He was brought to Key West, arriving at 2:05 a.m. today. The survivor was treated for exposure and starvation at Key West Naval Base Hospital. He will be flown today to his family in Havana.)

Late at night in heavy seas the Tropical capsized. All was confusion. I jumped into the water and grabbed onto an empty oil drum. I heard others swimming about trying to get to a small life boat. Many of them reached it. I couldn't swim that far. I was too frightened.

We were separated and I don't know what happened to them. I had no food or water and I don't think they had either.

The sea was very rough for several days. don't know how I was able to hold onto the drum When the sea calmed, sharks came around but I wasn't very worried about them. I was too tired.

I drank sparingly of sea water when I wasn't able to stand my thirst. It made me sick at the stomach.

I prayed (he is Roman Catholic) and thought of my wife and four children at home in Havana. The Lord must have helped me.

I gave up hope of rescue a couple days ago — but something made me hold onto the drum. I couldn't believe it when they picked me up.

guns to debloat the carcasses of cattle.

The weather along the coast is hot and humid and bodies and carcasses quickly putrefy. Cattle swell up with gas until they look like balloons.

When bulldozers, which cleanup crews use, hit the bloated carcasses, they explode, throwing foul-smelling matter all over the bulldozer and its operator.

Shoot Bloated Cattle

A man with a shotgun can stand off at a distance, shoot the carcass and let out the gas before a bulldozer ever gets to it.

The men going back and forth in small boats and swamp buggies to recover the dead complained that most persons in relief crews on the coast won't help them. They turn away when asked for help.

"In one way you can't blame them and in another way you can," one man who recovers bodies said. "Somebody has to do this job. I don't like to have to do it any more than the next man. But it has to be done.".

Authorities threatened to post guards around every house in some areas to prevent looting, which has become a major problem.

However, the dead and disease remained the big problem. Around Cameron the smell of death hung like a cloud. Thousands of bloated carcasses of cattle and pets lay rotting in the sun.

Serum Rushed To Scene

Tetanus, typhoid and gangrene serum was flown in from New Orleans.

At Lake Charles, 75 carpenters worked in assembly lines building coffins, some of which will be filled with unidentified dead. At least 140 coffins had been constructed and carpenters were working on an order for 100 more.

At Warehouse No. 4, on the Lake Charles docks, where the 173 bodies from the Cameron area were kept, a stench hung for several blocks. Calcasieu Parish Sheriff Henry Reid said it was "becoming a public health problem."

Two Red Cross nurses had to wear cloth masks dipped in ammonia when they entered the warehouse. W. Billy Primm, a mortician working at the warehouse, told Reid there were about 40 unidentified bodies at the receiving point.

Victims Beyond Recognition

Almost all of these were beyond facial recognition. Persons hunting for missing relatives and friends were asked to look at watches, jewelry and similar items in an attempt to make identification.

Crop dusting planes with insecticide and disinfectant were ordered to spray the coastal area. Flames through the night marked the funeral pyres of thousands of cattle drowned in the tidal wave, which had begun to explode in the hot sun.

Long's estimate was one of many varied opinions on the probable number of dead and missing. Larry W. Stevenson, Calcasieu Parish civil defense director, said it seemed the death toll would reach 350.

Three persons were also admitted to the hospital following an accident on Coal Center Hill yesterday at 12:15 a.m.

Injured were Rose Angelo, 27, of 203 Rostraver St., Monessen, who sustained a fractured right leg and cuts; Robert Gaskill, 437 Fourth St. North Charleroi, who suffered facial cuts and a possible fractured nose; and John Murdy, of Coal Center R. D., injuries not listed.

Both Gaskill and Murdy were treated and released. Angelo was reported in fair condition.

Also admitted to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital over the weekend was Edwin Woytovich, 26, of 635 Highland Ave., North Charleroi.

He suffered bruises in an auto accident on Saturday near 16th St. in Monessen.

Trinity Church Pastor Ordained on Saturday

The Rev. David Dillon, pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church, was ordained to the priesthood of the Episcopal Church Saturday morning at Trinity Cathedral, Pittsburgh.

He was one of five deacons on which the Most Rev. Austin Pardue, Bishop of the Pittsburgh Diocese conferred the sacrament of priesthood. Seven young men were ordained deacons in the rites.

The Rev. Mr. Dillon was presented for ordination by the Rev. Dr. Samuel Shoemaker, of Calvary Episcopal Church, Pittsburgh.

The Rev. C. Dale Doren, of the St. Paul Episcopal Church of Mt. Lebanon, delivered the ordination sermon. Several other ministers of the Diocese took part in the service.

In the evening the Rev. Mr. Dillon was honored by the congregation of the local church at a reception at the Parish House on Reed Ave. Senior Warden Earl Wahl acted as master of ceremonies for a brief program during which the Rev. Joseph N. Wittkofski, of St. Mary Church of Charleroi, the Rev. Russell Turner, of St. John Church of Donora and the Rev. Paul Trout of St. Paul Lutheran Church were introduced.

Thomas Dobson, of Belle Vernon, was guest soloist and presented three numbers. He was accompanied by Mrs. Dobson.

Mr. Wahl presented the honored guest with a cash gift.

Refreshments were served by the Women's Guild with Mrs. William Fisher as chairman. Pouring were Mrs. Wahl and Mrs. Ray Lear, Guild president.

The Rev. Mr. Dillon came to Trinity Church last October after being ordained to the Diaconate at Calvary Church, Pittsburgh. He was graduated from Pennsylvania State University, read for the religious orders for a year and attended General Theological Seminary for a year in New York.

Kennedy Won't Seek Or Reject Nomination

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) said during the filming of a television program that he would not seek the presidency in 1960 but would not reject it if offered.

The boyish looking senator, who nearly won the Democratic vice-presidential nomination last year, said he did not think being a Roman Catholic would hinder his chances if he ran for president

"I think people respect men with religious convictions," Kennedy said during the filming of Martha Roundtree's T-V program, "Press Conference" here Sunday before several hundred delegates to the centennial convention of the National Education Association. The show is scheduled to be telecast tonight (9 P.M. EDT on ABC).

The panel of 12 newsmen asked him if he would turn down the nomination and Kennedy replied, "I don't think anyone has ever done that."

Kennedy criticized American aid to Poland as inadequate. He said America gave only one third of what the Poles had asked. He expressed the opinion that he was sorry the question of aid to Poland had not gone before congress.

The New England Democrat said he favors halting the testing of nuclear devices for one year, the civil rights bill, as well as aid to education and higher pay for teachers.

Kennedy predicted the civil rights bill would pass through Congress and added, he felt the U.S. Supreme court has not gone too far in support of civil rights.

Bruce Catton, editor of the American Heritage and a Pulitzer Prize author, addressed the group at a vesper service earlier.

He told some 20,000 delegates that the present day educational ideals should "turn this time of crisis into an avenue of the future."

Gov. George M. Leader is scheduled to speak tonight at the first business session of the convention as are Dr. Allen H. Wetter, superintendent of Philadelphia schools, and Martha A. Shull, of Portland, Ore., president of the NEA.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon is scheduled to talk before the convention Wednesday at the second business meeting of the general assembly.

Other speakers to appear before the organization include Dr. James B. Conant, former ambassador to West Germany; Norman Cousins, editor of the Saturday Review, and Sir Ronald Gould, of England, president of the World Confederation of Organizations of the Teaching professions.

The convention got underway Sunday on the theme "An educated People Moves Freedom Forward."

Marion B. Folsom, secretary of health, education and welfare will be awarded an NEA honorary life membership Wednesday.

The NEA was founded by 15 state education association presidents meeting in Philadelphia Aug. 26, 1957.

Man's Body Is Found in Mystery

CLARINGTON, Ohio (UP) — A coroner's ruling was expected today in the death of Thomas Fehrenback, 34, New Castle, Pa., whose body was found inside a refrigerator behind the front seat of his locked car Sunday.

There were no apparent marks of violence on the body which was fully clothed except for shoes.

Monroe County Coroner Paul Turner was expected to rule whether the death was murder or suicide.

Police found the body when a woman called authorities to have the car removed from a driveway on Ohio 556, a half mile west of here. The car had been in the area since late Friday night.

Sun Causing TV Interference

WASHINGTON (UP) — If your radio acts up today or your television set in Hartford, Conn., picks up a San Diego, Calif., program, don't worry. It's just the universe celebrating the birth of IGY.

It may be a headache to you. But the scientists think it's wonderful.

IGY is the abbreviation for International Geophysical Year which officially began at 8 p.m., e.d.t. Sunday night.

During the Year — which actually will run until Dec. 31, 1958— some 10,000 scientists at more than 2,000 stations around the world will undertake the greatest study of the earth and its atmosphere ever conducted.

(President Eisenhower issued a special statement wishing IGY scientists of all nations "Godspeed and good luck" in their 18 month endeavors.

The disturbances which might be caused in your radio and television sets results from a huge flare-up in the sun. The solar eruption — one of the greatest ever — set off violent electrical storms Sunday and today in the magnetic field stretching out 10,000 miles from the earth.

A. H. Shapley, vice chairman of the National Academy of Sciences, said the storms also caused a blackout of shortwave radio communications in many parts of the world Sunday and today. He said the communications difficulties were easing and should be over by Tuesday.

Aircraft and ships at sea dependent on radio navigation and communications were alerted to take precautionary measures, he said.

Although Shapley regretted the communications trouble, he also was pleased that it came at this time. The flareup occurred days ago but the effects re the earth Sunday.

Shapley said "The univer self cooperated in heralding beginning" of the Geoph Year.

The solar eruption, which enough to envelop the earth first detected by Russian scie in Moscow and flashed to communications centers all the world, including the IGY ing agency in Virginia.

Increase

creased wages inflationary. USW President David J. McDonald charged increases are wholly unjustified in the face of the "fantastic profits" of the steel companies.

At the one-third mark of the longest contract ever signed by the steel union, employes of the basic steel companies and some large fabricating firms receive the following benefits:

Receive Living Increase

General wage increase, 7 cents; wage increment 1.29 cents; incentive pay impact of .83 cents; Sunday premium pay 2 cents; holiday premium .41 cents, and pension .98 cents.

In addition, the workers received a July 1 cost-of-living increase of 4 cents an hour, the second under the contract. Last Jan. 1, the cost-of-living increase was 3 cents an hour.

For the steel workers, today was a sharp contrast to July 1, 1956. Before the Pittsburgh works of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., millworker Al Simpson stood reading the headline in a union paper.

"'New Pay Raises July 1,'" he grinned. "I'm sure glad to be reading that instead of the picket sign I was picking up a year ago."

The USW estimates the average hourly wage for steelworkers now is $2.78 an hour.

Steel

words, steel firms could have raised their prices some time ago and still sold as much steel.

Steel firms claim the price hikes are necessary to pay for wage increases slated to take effect today. Government economists feel ideally industry should absorb wage hikes by increased productivity.

They think the steel hike probably goes a little beyond the amount needed to pay for the new wage rises. But they add that the steel industry has been paying higher prices for its purchases, higher state and local taxes and march higher replacement costs.

The $6-a-ton increase may improve the steel companies position "a trifle" beyond these extra actual costs, the economists believe. But they also assert that the steel industry's profits have been behind those of most other industries.

Mr. and Mrs. George Boston

Mr. and Mrs. George Boston Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Boston, of 713 Henry St., observed the golden anniversary of their marriage on Saturday, June 29 at their home.

From 6 until 10 p. m. they received approximately 200 relatives and friends informally at open house. Buffet refreshments were served from a large table centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with the golden numeral "50." Yellow roses and other yellow appointments were also used.

Mrs. Boston wore an orchid, which was a gift of her husband, and the home was decorated with baskets and bouquets of flowers, which were sent by friends. The couple also received a large number of gifts.

Among the anniversary guests were three who attended the wedding of the couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Boston are the parents of a son, Ross, who with his wife and children, Paul and Donice was present and a daughter, Mrs. Ernest (Hilda) Como, who was present with her husband and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Como and their baby.

Mrs. Ross Boston and Mrs. Como along with Mrs. Roberta Davis, Mrs. Ross Como, Donice Boston and two close friends of the Bostons, Mrs. Lillian Reeves and Mrs. Florence Hassen served the refreshments.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the hour at which the couple exchanged vows 50 years ago in Ohio, the family dinner party was held with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Boston entertaining in their home on Graham St. Covers were laid for 20 at a table centered with a floral arrangement.

Close relatives of Mrs. Boston, who attended included her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cardona, of Baltimore, Md. and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Pottiger, of Dundock, Md., another sister, Mrs. William Kennedy, of Shadyside, Ohio and a niece, Roberta Davis, of Baltimore. Mr. Boston's aunt, Mrs. Lisha Cassman, of Braddock and his cousins, Mrs. Catherine O'Toole, of Braddock and Emmett Carney, of Rochester were also on the guest list.

The Bostons have lived in Belle Vernon for 42 years and Mr. Boston, who is a retired railroad employe is bookkeeper at the Broad Ave. Jewelers.

Summer School Opens at Church

Summer school of religion opens tomorrow at St. Sebastian R. C. Church tomorrow morning at 8:45 and all children of the parish in grades 1 to 8 who attend public school are to attend.

The children will gather at the church to attend the 8:45 mass tomorrow as a prelude to the daily classes which will be conducted from 8:45 to 11:45 a.m.

Children who will attend first grade this year and children who have attended Catholic schools need not attend these classes. Children who completed the 8th grade this year should attend these classes.

Class of 1932 Holds 25th Anniversary

Meeting for their first get-together since graduation from Belle Vernon High School, members of the Class of 1932 observed their silver anniversary with a dinner dance Saturday evening at the Park Casino.

There were 66 members and guests in attendance and they gathered for a half hour reception before the serving. Appointments were predominantly silver in observance of the anniversary, however, accents of cream and green, the class colors were used.

All the gifts were silver wrapped and a program booklet in the class colors marked each cover an included a complete list of names and addresses of class members.

Honored guests were George E. Fee, who was principal of the school and Mrs. Fee and the faculty sponsor of the class, Eleanor Arter Craumer and her husband, of Johnstown. Mrs. Fee and Mrs. Craumer were presented with corsages.

Recalls Memories

Albert Catrino, who served as toastmaster, asked the invocation and benediction and was introduced by the class president, James Hill, of Plutney, N. Y., who extended the welcome.

Fee and Mrs. Craumer both recalled some of their memories of this class and the class members introduced guests and told something of their lives in the past 25 years.

Mrs. Pat Angelo (Millie Polli) presented the awards which were given to Mrs. Virginia Heffran Rose, of Tarentum, who was married the longest; John Cozzens, of Chicago, who came the longest distance to attend the party; Mrs. Alverta Nelson Fields, the grandmother in the class; Robert Stewart, the grandfather in the class; Mrs. Genevieve Stewart Stringhill, the most recently married; William Selkirk, of Mattawan, Mich., the father of the youngest child; Mrs. Evelyn Stanger Aspy, of Clarksburg, W. Va., the member of the class having twins; James Hill for having the largest number of children (five).

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wallace, who were observing their wedding anniversary, were presented with a gift. Mrs. Wallace, the former Marie Trozzo, is a member of the class.

The committee in charge presented a gift to Mrs. Elsie Franceshi Guadegnino, who served as reunion secretary.

Gifts Presented

Mrs. Alverta Fields was in charge of distributing guest prizes and winners were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Catrino, Mr. and Mrs. George Fee, Mr. and Mrs. Clive Moran, of Pittsburgh, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Guadagnino, Charles Bennett, of New York City; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wallace, Mrs. Fields and William Selkirk.

Upon arrival at the affair each class member was presented with an identification tag bearing his graduation picture. All of the women in attendance were presented with silver bracelets and potted plants and the men received silver tie pins and cuff links. Everyone received a souvenir ash tray.

During the program there was a moment of silent prayer for two deceased class members, Pvt. Salvatore Orlando, who was killed in World War II in 1944 and Tony Tonarelli, who died in 1945.

Albert Catrino read several messages from class members, who could not be present including the class vice president, the Rev. Harold Buell, who is pastor of the Methodist Church in Miami, Fla. All other officers including President Hill, Genevieve Stewart Stringhill, secretary and Ann West cott Whitlatch, of Brownsville, treasurer, were present.

Members of the committee acted as the reception committee and were introduced during the program. They were Mrs. Guadagnino, Mrs. Angelo, Mrs. Fields, Leona Orlando and Albert Catrino.

Music, dancing and an informal social time followed and the class members voted for another reunion in five years.

A highlight of the evening was the museum table on which was placed many articles kept by the members as mementoes of their high school days.

Honor Guest at Nuptial Shower

Mrs. George Bindus, who before her marriage was Evelyn Strychalski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Strychalski, of Fairhope, was honor guest at a post nuptial shower held Thursday evening. It was at the Fairhope Rod and Gun Club and about 40 friends and relatives attended.

Games were played and winners were awarded prizes.

Mrs. Bindus opened her many gifts, which were placed on a decorated table trimmed with pink and white streamers. Joyce Atkins, Yvonne Waite and Barbara Donini assisted her.

Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bindus, of Star Junction, and their marriage was solemnized in Winchester, Va. on June 7.

The Rev. and Mrs. S. George Clarke and children left today by plane for Gainesville, Fla. where they will make their new home. Mr. Clarke, who served as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here for the past three years has accepted a pastorate in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reed and daughter and Mrs. Fannie Parenti are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nelson and family, of Clarksburg, W. Va.

Children Take Active Part At Playground

Children at the North Belle Vernon playground took part in a checker tournament on Thursday afternoon. Paige Grant and Jody Catrino, instructors, were in charge and the contestants were divided into age groups for the competition.

Winners in the 7 to 9 year age group were John Sichi and Tara Bickerton; 10 to 11 years, Dorene Williams and Jolinda Pinciaro.

Ping pong winners in the 9 to 10 group were Jay Utterback and Jimmy Carrick and in the 12 to 15 bracket, Jimmie Sichi and bob Roucroft.

The next event planned for the young folks is a bicycle parade to be staged at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon.

The playground will not be open July 4.

More Competition Would Help

ONE of the steel industry's most serious lacks is showing again. This is the absence of any real spirit of competition among the few huge companies which set the pace for the industry.

The industry now appears to be of one mind about prices, just as, for many years, it has been of one mind about wage rates. nI the case of wage rates, to be sure, the single-mindedness is attributable in good part to the insistence of the United Steelworkers union on setting wage "patterns" through negotiations with a small handful of the larger companies.

But whatever the causes have been, the steel industry has lost most of the individuality that springs from intense and serious competition. U. S. Steel speaks and the echoes are heard promptly and accurately all down the line.

Yet it cannot possibly be true, short of a full-blown cartel system, that what is best for one steel company is good for all companies. It is the genius of a really competitive system that some groups can produce more effeciently —which means better products at lower prices —than other groups. And the general welfare is enhanced by a larger flow of improved goods.

The labor supply of the steel industry has fallen under a tight monopoly which fixes rates and employment conditions without regard for the special circumstances existing within individual companies. And the larger companies, no longer much concerned with producing more and better products at lower prices, connive to see how best the total melon can be divided among them.

* * *

THE LOSER, of course, when the competitive system i sduluted in this fashion is the public interest. Big labor and big industry are well able to look out for their special interests.

What the eventual outcome is going to be, we can only guess. But it is not difficult to imagine a popular reaction setting in.

The trend could conceivably be reversed if the executives of the steel companies spent less time huddling among themselves and more time running their own businesses. And it would help a lot if the policies of the United Steelworkers union could be modified to allow the companies to deal more often with their own employes on the basis of mutual needs and ambitions as these are bound to vary from company to company.

Baseball and Suds

MAJOR LEAGUE baseball, it might be fair to say, probably commands as much attention from people of all ages as any enterprise in the country. It might also be fair to say that the owners of major league teams are interested first in money and second in the national sport.

They are wise enough, however, to realize that to protect their money they have to keep baseball a wholesome affair. That's why team owners aren't allowed to abuse their players, players aren't allowed to spit too far into the stands, etc.

We don't know what all the commissioners and czars talk about when they get together, but one thing they might consider for the good of the industry is the fact that in the current season every major league baseball team in the U. S. is sponsored on radio and television by a beer company, many exclusively.

There are different opinions of course about beer. What is one man's nectar is another man's rotgut. There are different opinions too, as you might guess, as to how much beer radio and TV can sell anyway. But the brewers obviously think baseball is a good salesman for beer, and the team owners obviously have regard for the $400 million advertising budget of the brewers.

The baseball moguls might well remind themselves that not only have they the privilege of making money with their teams, but they have custody of a national tradition. Should beer be allowed to become the great American thirst-quencher by this heavy-handed association with the great American pastime?

The Nickerson Case

COL. JOHN C. Nickerson, who had been billed as a second "Billy Mitchell" prior to his court-martial, did not seem to us to live up to the billing. Rather he seems to have been infatuated with the sound of his own voice and overly impressed with the soundness of his own wisdom.

Undoubtedly Colonel Nickerson knows a lot about guided missiles. And undoubtedly he is a man of strong conviction and equally strong patriotism.

But if he is any kind of an Army officer at all, he must know what the eventual consequences would be if every man in the Army were to start doing what he did — sounding off in public every time he disagrees with a superior's decision.

For that matter, General Mitchell, although he happened to be quite right about the ability of an airplane to sink a battleship with a bomb, was very wrong about the methods he used to assert his conviction.

Merry-Go-Round—

Humphrey Is Challenged on Tax Write-offs

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Prior to the current Senate investigation of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and his fiscal policies, only two members of Congress had the courage to tangle with the man rated as the most powerful in the Cabinet.

Mr. Pearson

One was Congressman Albert Thomas of Houston, Tex., who called on the Secretary of the Treasury to ask why the Office of Defense Mobilization would not grant a fast tax write-off to the Baytown Steel Co., of Baytown, Tex.

Humphrey explained that he was against fast tax write-offs.

"They add to inflation, and give favored companies an unfair advantage over competitors," he said.

"But they weren't so bad when you got a $315,000,000 tax write-off for your National Steel Company?" Congressman Thomas shot back. "Or when you got $111,000,000 for your Canadian ore company?

"If these tax write-offs are so bad why don't you repeal them?" asked the Congressman from Texas.

That ended the interview.

NOTE — Humphrey is a member of the Defense Mobilization Board, the over-all agency which grants the fast tax write-offs.

Change on Seaway

The other Congressman who tangled with George Humphrey is George Fallon of Baltimore, like Thomas, a Democrat. Their clash occurred before Humphrey became Secretary of the Treasury when he testified, March 5, 1951, in favor of the St. Lawrence Seaway. Prior to this, Humphrey had referred to the Seaway as a "socialistic ditch." But after his M.A. Hanna Co. acquired one of the most valuable ore deposits in the world in Labrador, Humphrey changed his mind.

Congressman Fallon discreetly called Humphrey's attention not to his own views but to those of another Hanna executive, and asked: "Do you think his views have changed today?"

"Oh yes, they have changed," replied the head of one of the greatest ore companies in the world. "For many years we were opposed to the Seaway for just one reason: We did not see there was a substantial tonnage to move over it.

"In our work in Labrador we have been looking forward to the time when more iron ore would be developed . . . And as soon as we found there was a large tonnage of ore in Labrador that could be moved over the Seaway we then changed our position in favor of the Seaway."

Later when Mr. Humphrey entered the Cabinet he threw his weight behind passage of the Seaway with such vigor that his close friend, Sen. George Bender of Ohio, complained he was changing the signals too rapidly. Bender, who had opposed the Seaway, had to reverse himself and promote the Seaway. Thanks to Humphrey's power the Seaway, after 20 years of delay — was passed, though only through Lake Erie, near which the Humphrey industrial properties are located.

The last annual report of the M. A Hanna Co., in which Secretary Humphrey retained a huge bloc of stock, speaks glowingly of Labrador ore development.

"Production from the Quebec-Labrador fields exceeded 12.1 million tons during the last mining season. Four mines were originally planned for the Schefferville area, but five are now needed to provide increased production . . . Schefferville, a self-governing community, now has a population of about 2,500 . . . The Quebec North Shore and Labrador Railway (a privately owned railroad) operated without interruption."

Humphrey's Conflicts

Senators and Congressmen complain about two possible conflicts of interest on the part of Mr. Humphrey:

No. 1 is the quickie tax write-offs given his companies but denied to competing companies such as Baytown Steel.

No. 2 is the fact that Humphrey's privately owned railroad and barge lines do not have to pay an excise tax as do railroads and other common carriers.

The excise tax on transportation is 10 per cent for passengers and 3 per cent for freight. Passed during the war, there was a general demand that it be removed when the tax laws were rewritten by the Eisenhower administration. As Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Humphrey helped to keep the transportation tax on the books.

It benefits his companies because they have their own private transportation lines. It hurts competitors who have to pay the tax.

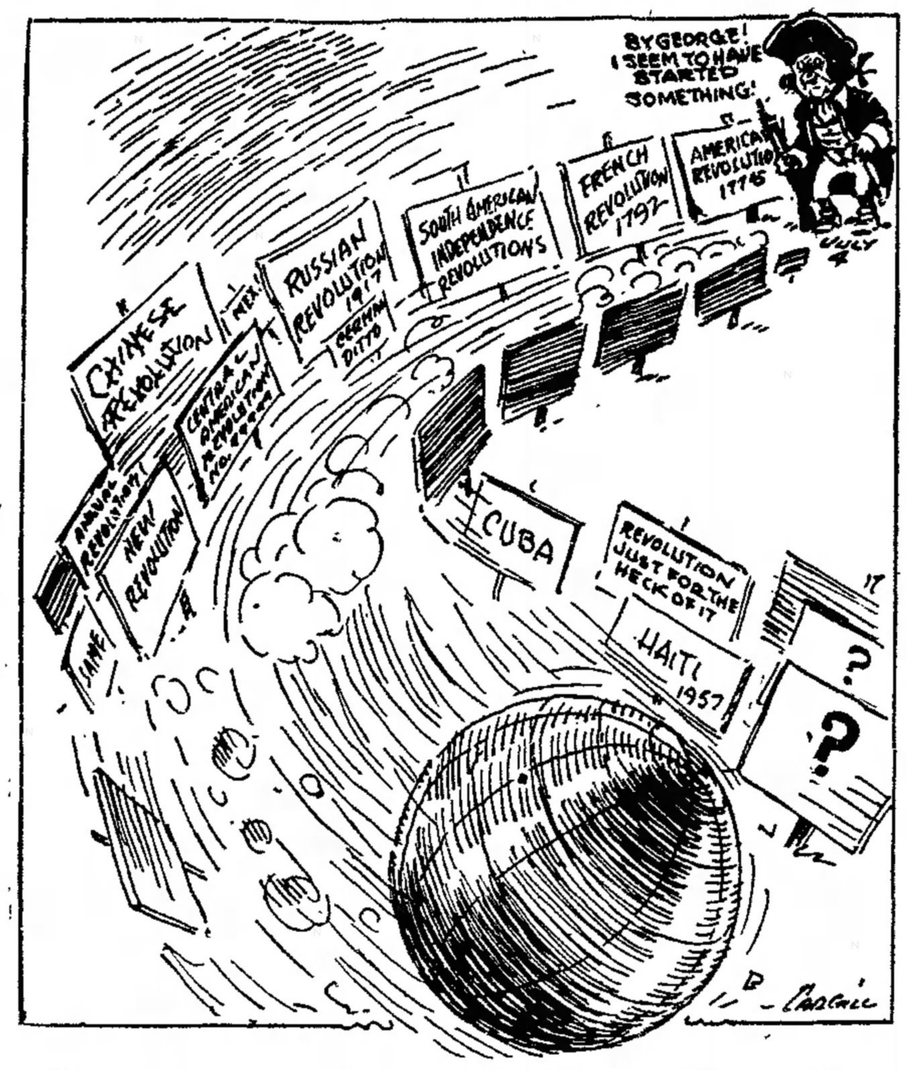
The M. A. Hanna annual report shows how extensively it has built up private transportation, thus escaping the excise tax. In addition to the Quebec North Shore and Labrador, Rwy., the Hanna-operated Great Lakes fleet totaled 10 cargo vessels, while its ocean fleet totaled five vessels.

How much this costs the Treasury Department which Mr. Humphrey operates is indicated by a letter from the Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Owen Clarke, March 14, 1957, to Senator Smathers of Florida.

"We are convinced," he stated, "there has been a substantial diversion of traffic from for-hire carriers to private carriers . . . and it is estimated that $24,000,000 is lost to the U. S. Government each year which would not be lost if the 3 per cent tax on transportation were repealed."

Thus Secretary Humphrey has put himself in the position of helping to retain a tax which competitors have to pay but which he cannot collect from his own companies.

And Still Going Strong



Today and Tomorrow—

Stassen Has Thin, Weak Mandate

By WALTER LIPPMANN

There are many signs that while Governor Stassen does have a mandate to negotiate in London, it is thin and weak and tentative. He is authorized to see whether he can work out an agreement which, when it is brought back to Washington, will have the full support of the Administration, which is divided on the fundamentals, and of the Senate, which is keeping itself aloof and uncommitted.

Mr. Lippmann

The negotiator of any treaty is, of course, in the position of not being entirely certain that the Senate will ratify what he may agree to. But Gov. Stassen's position is unusually precarious. For he has the Administration united behind him only in the sense that the President has made a ruling which must be obeyed, not in the sense that the opposition has been convinced and won over. The high officials who do not want an agreement at this time are being formally correct in not challenging the President's policy. But their real feelings ooze out in every direction, and are exerting a powerful influence in Congress and in the press.

What has happened, I believe, is that the great underlying issues of policy, which must in the end be decided by public debate, have been debated in secret within the Administration, and have been decided but have not been settled. The underlying issues turn on whether, if an enforceable agreement to limit armaments could be reached, it would be wise to make the agreement. The really important opposition is among those who think that an agreement to limit armaments, even though enforceable, would be undesirable. The President has ruled against them, and has taken the position that if an enforceable agreement can be reached, the agreement should be made. Gov. Stassen has the President's ruling behind him. But the serious opposition though it is overruled fort he time being, is likely to continue to be very formidable indeed.

No Public Debate

It is a pity that the case of the opposition was not debated publicly before the negotiations began in London. It may well become necessary to debate the case before the negotiations can go much further. For it is not realistic to assume, as the President does when he discusses the subject in his oversimplifying way, that the whole problem is whether the Russians will agree to some arrangement that they will not be able to violate.

Although for my own part, I would make a limited agreement, say to suspend the nuclear tests for a trial period, I do not doubt that the case against such an agreement must be recognized and answered. Otherwise, we may find ourselves in the dangerous position of rejecting an international agreement that the President has made

There are, it would seem, two principal objections to making an agreement.

The first is that to suspend testing would be to sacrifice advantages that we now have and others that we expect to obtain in the future. Presumably we are not only ahead of the Russians in the race of armaments but the scientists think that we are within reach of advances which will put us decisively ahead for at least some considerable period of time. I do not know what there is in it, but there have been hints that defensive nuclear armaments may be developed which would make this country largely unvulnerable to nuclear attack. If that were to happen, we should — until Russia develops the same defensive weapons — by way ahead in the race of armaments.

In any event, the burden will be on the President and his supporters to prove that a pause in the race of armaments will not be an unequal sacrifice.

The second of the principal objections is that any agreement, however limited technically, in a matter of such critical importance as nuclear weapons will have a profound influence on all the great issues which divide the world. An effect of the meeting at the summit in 1955 at Geneva was to downgrade the international importance of issues like the division of Germany. Any substantial agreement now which covers the ultimate weapons of modern war, will have a similar, perhaps a larger, downgrading effect.

Whether this would be a good thing or a bad one is the really debatable question. Does the downgrading of issues like the division of Germany, of Korea, of Viet Nam, like the rivalry in the Middle East, like the withdrawal of the Soviet Army from Eastern Europe, mean that these problems will never be solved? Or does it mean that they will all be solved in the end as suits the Soviet Union? Or does it mean that as the tension relaxes, the national and local impulses towards independence and nationalism will assert themselves?

No one knows for certain and it is foolish to be dogmatic. The future is not under our control. But as between the risks of standing pat and the risks of venturing forward, why should we take counsel only of our fears?

Monessen continued in the throes of a heat wave today. Three deaths in the Pittsburgh area have been attributed to the heat.

A testimonial dinner was tendered Max Schloss last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Shapiro on McKee Ave. Mr. Schloss is retiring after five years as secretary of the B'nai B'rith Lodge.

From Washington—

Be Careful in Talks Over Disarmament

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — Walter Lippmann is urging a thorough, public debate on whether it is desirable or undesirable for the United States to join the Soviet Union in any kind of disarmament in the present state of the world.

Mr. Lippmann urged such a debate before President Eisenhower disclosed that he himself has some second thoughts on the wisdom of ending nuclear bomb tests.

Mr. Drummond

The warning which Mr. Lippmann sounds — and he favors an arms-limitation agreement — is that unless there is a frank facing of the arguments against as well as for disarmament, we may well end up seeing the President negotiate an agreement which neither the Senate nor the American people will accept.

It is urgent that Mr. Eisenhower begin to meet openly the genuine reservations which many people have about disarmament at this time because nothing could be more hurtful than to have the President put his name to a treaty and then have public opinion strike his signature from it.

Strong Case

There is a strong case for disarmament. What seems to me most dangerous is that disarmament should be sold to the American people on the ground that it is gogoing to do something which it isn't — that it is going to bring about "peaceful coexistence," reduce tensions between Russia and the free world and generally create a climate in which the great disputes which divide us can be resolved.

I cannot see where disarmament is going to do any of these things.

There is no evidence that the Soviets are trying to curtail the cold war. The only evidence is that they might like to carry on the cold war at a slightly reduced cost through some disarmament.

Consider the fact that while the disarmament negotiations in London are trying to work out a big arms limitation, the Communists were continuing to violate a little arms limitation in North Korea.

Consider the fact that while we are trying in London to devise a system of inspection that will make world-wide disarmament enforceable, the Communists have been so violating the inspection system set up to govern the Korean truce that the United Nations command can no longer live with it.

Consider the fact that on the very day that the United States proposes a mutual cutback of armed forces, the 150,000-word report of the special United Nations committee confirms everything the world instinctively knew was true about Moscow's illegal use of its armed force to crush the liberties and independence of the Hungarian people — that the uprising of the Hungarians against Soviet rule was spontaneous and nationwide, unaided by any Western "imperialists," that Soviet forces violated Hungarian territory because they were never invited in by any Hungarian government.

That First Step

Consider the fact that the Kremlin shows no interest in and, in fact, a sustained opposition to negotiating a solution to any of the international problems and tensions — such as the unification of Germany — which have produced the arms race the Soviets now appear to want to halt.

Conceivably it may be in the interests of both the Soviet Union and the United States to take a first step toward an inspectable reduction of armed strength.

But let us not take this step in the false and wishful expectation that it is going to usher in a "peace" with the Kremlin or produce a climate in which we can let down our guard and watch cold-war tensions melt away.

No, the evidence seems to be sufficient to say that if Moscow wants to negotiate a disarmament agreement, it wants to negotiate it, not as a means of liquidating the cold war, but as a means of carrying it forward at a slightly reduced cost

Even under such conditions a first-step arms limitation may be useful, but let us not acclaim it for more than it is.

Modern Readers Used To Teach Golden Rule

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK, (UP)—Teach our children character, without preaching to them.

This old - fashioned formula, which influenced our parents and grandparents through the famous McGuffey readers, gets the modern treatment in the Golden Rule Series of children's books.

Gay Pauley

The latest in the series is out today — this group aimed for the first, second and third grade level. The first group, for fourth, fifth and sixth grades, came out in January 1956 Eventually, the seventh and eighth grades also will be covered.

Underwriting the research for this project of developing children's moral sense without moralizing is the Palmer Foundation, established in 1944 by Col. and Mrs. Clyde E. Palmer.

Publisher Of Newspaper

Palmer is president and publisher of the Texarkana Gazette and Daily News. He and his wife long have been interested in educational methods and set up the foundation to "foster and promote the principles of morality through the public schools."

The American Book Co., publishers of the Golden Rule Series subtitled "The Modern McGuffey Readers," said that perhaps the sive research ever made into "most exahustive and comprehenchildren's reading habits" went into preparation of the series for the beginners.

The publishers said research into the subject matter for the new series looked into more than 100 desirable traits and rules of conduct. Through questionnaries to school principals and other leaders in education, these were boiled down to 11 "ideals of personal behavior" taught in the series.

Honesty And Kindness

They are cooperation, courage, fairness, friendliness, honesty, kindness, patriotism, perseverance, responsibility, reverence and unselfishness.

Many of the stories use the socio-drama approach — that is the children act out the endings.

American Book said research into readability was extensive, and that all stories got the classroom test. In the grade two books, for instance, only one new word per sentence is introduced...only two new words to a page.

The first series has been adopted as textbooks in classrooms in virtually every state.

Columbine Gets Good Care

By PATRICIA WIGGINS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Backstairs at the White House:

President Eisenhower's return from the national governors conference at Williamsburg, Va. in a substitute Air Force plane when his own plane, the Columbine III, failed to start points up anew the care taken in presidential travel.

Presidential pilot, Lt. Col. William G. Draper, expected that the Columbine trouble — a failure of its electrical system — could be fixed up for the trip back to Washington. But he chose to put the President in the substitute plane until a complete repair and checking job could be done on the Columbine back in its own hangar.

He did so even though the electric trouble would not have affected the actual flying of the aircraft.

As it turned out, Draper's expectations were correct, and the big silver Columbine was flown back to the capital with no mishap. But Draper, who probably gives the Columbine more attention than any other plane in the world gets, never takes even the slightest chance with the President aboard.

Lucille Kelly Weds William B. Van Scoy

Lucille Kelly, of 445 Reed Ave., and William B. Van Scoy exchanged nuptial vows in the First Presbyterian Church at noon on Saturday, June 29, before the church pastor, the Rev. Abner P. Richard Jr.

The lines of the double ring ceremony were read before an altar arranged with white gladiolus and tall tapers held in branched candelabra, which were lighted by Richard Ely, nephew of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard S. Kelly, who were residents of Monessen and the bridegroom's home is in Salem, W. Va.

Nuptial Music

An interlude of organ music by Harry McCann church organist, preceded the rites and the soloist was Virginia Fisher, who chose "The Lord Is My Shepherd", "Song of Ruth" and "The Lord's Prayer" as her selections.

J. Howard Kelly, uncle of the bride, gave her in marriage. She wore a white lace dress lined with blue taffeta with a matching jacket also accented in blue. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom and she carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Mary Kelly Ely, of Pittsburgh, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a pink ensemble and carried a colonial bouquet.

Jennings Van Scoy, son of the bridegroom, from Salisbury, Md., was the best man. Usher was Richard E. Kelly, of Pittsburgh, brother of the bride.

A wedding breakfast was served in the church social rooms immediately after the ceremony. Covers were laid for 50 guests including relatives and intimate friends. Invocation was by Frank G. Kelly, U. S. Air Force Chaplain and and younger brother of the bride.

Wedding Cake

A wedding cake centered the table and the tall tapers and flowers were in a pink and white color scheme.

When Mr. and Mrs. Van Scoy left for their trip to Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. the bride was wearing a toast colored tailored ensemble with white accessories.

After Aug. 1, the couple will be at home in Salem, W. Va.

Mrs. Van Scoy formerly taught home economics in the Monessen Schools and her husband in principal of the Center Point W. Va. Schools.

Judith Faulx, Carl Schiff Wed in South

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Faulx, of Smithton, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Judith, to Pfc. Carl Schiff. He is the son of Mrs. Hilda Limberg, of Carrick.

Their marriage took place on May 4 in Springfield, Tenn.

The bride has been attending St. Thomas School of Nursing in Nashville, Tenn., for the past year and the bridegroom is with the Airborne Division of Fort Campbell, Ky. He is temporarily stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

After Aug. 8, the couple will be residing in Clarksville. The bride is presently visiting her parents.

Wycoff-Robbins Marriage Rites In Philadelphia

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Mrs. Ruth Wycoff and James E. Robbins, both of West Newton, which took place on June 6, in Philadelphia.

The ceremony was solemnized in the home of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. Edward Jordan, parents of Mrs. Wycoff's daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Wycoff.

Dr. Jordan officiated at the ceremony.

Tri City Club Holds Meet in North Charleroi

Mrs. Dolores Eland, of North Charleroi, entertained on Thursday evening for members of the Tri County Club at her home.

Five hundred was the main diversion and those winning prizes were Mrs. Pearl Romantine, a guest, Mrs. Carmen Barndollar, Mrs. Eilene Kimmell, another guest and Mrs. Betty Markham.

Mrs. Theresa Tomovchik received a gift from her secret pal.

Luncheon was served and on July 9 the next meeting will be held at the Barndollar home in Charleroi.

Mrs. Ben Homas
Joyce Anna Swalin

Joyce Anna Swalin Weds Ben Homas at St. Cajetan

Solemnized on Saturday, June 22, in St. Cajetan R. C. Church was the marriage of Joyce Anna Swalin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elfing Swalin, of 464 Knox Ave., and Ben Homas. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Homas, of 217 East Schoonmaker Ave.

The Rev. Nunzio Pirulli officiicated at the 2 p.m. ceremony and read the lines of the double ring rites before an altar arranged with white gladiolus. White crash lined the church aisle and white satin bows marked the family pews.

The bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of white silk organza fashioned with a criss cross empire midriff with a sweetheart neckline and cap sleeves outlined in Alencon lace appliques, which were also used to accentuate the hip line. Her princess line bouffant skirt ended in a chapel train and she wore a finger tip veil of imported silk illusion attached to a queen's crown of seed pearls. Her only jewelry was cultured pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom and a gold bracelet, which her late paternal grandmother wore 65 years ago on her wedding day. Her flowers were white carnations, stephanotis and yellow roses in a cascade arrangement.

Places Bouquet

The bride placed a bouquet of white and blue carnations and her sodality cape on the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

Maid of honor was Barbara Reday, of East Liberty, a friend of the bride, who wore a ballerina length gown of white velva ray over green taffeta fashioned with a square neckline and cap sleeves and along princess lines. The full bouffant skirt was accented with back bows and she wore a white picture hat with matching velvet trim. Her bouquet was of yellow carnations in a frontal arrangement.

The bridesmaids selected gowns styled identically to that worn by the maid of honor. They were Joan D'astolfo, a cousin of the bride and Kaye Wilson, a friend of the bride. They also carried yellow carnations.

Philip Lopresti, a friend of the bridegroom, served him as best man and the ushers were Richard Swalin, brother of the bride and George Wolf, nephew of the bridegroom.

The mother of the bride wore beige linen lace with beige accessories and a pink rosebud corsage with stephanotis.

Reception Held

A reception was held at the Falcon Hall on Knox Ave. and there were guests present from Kenmare, N. Y., Ohio, Long Island, N. Y., Pittsburgh and area towns. A four tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table. Dinner for 55 guests was served at Sweeney's.

When the couple left for a Canadian wedding trip the bride wore a black and white silk striped dress with a white feathered hat, black patent accessories and an orchid corsage.

The couple will reside at 604 Division St.

The bride was graduated from Monessen High School and is employed at the local A and P Market. The bridegroom was graduated from Monessen High and served four years in the air force. He is a junior student at the University of Pittsburgh majoring in chemical engineering.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. John Galayda, 643 Knox Ave., Monessen, a daughter, 6 pounds, 5 ounces. June 27, at 7:41 p. m., at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Sinchak, 616 Donner Ave., Monessen, a daughter, 7 pounds, 10 ounces, June 27, at 11:44 p. m., at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Local Boy and Parents Share Party Honors

Robert C. Zdanzwicz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kasmer Zdanzwicz, of Oneida St., observed his fourth birthday anniversary on Saturday and was honored guest at a party at his home yesterday.

The social event was highlighted by the serving of dinner at a table centered with a birthday cake after which Robert was presented with gifts.

Guests present included the grandparents of the guest of honor, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Tkach, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Telleris and son, Mrs. Mike Katch and children, John Tkach, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Telleris, Jr., and daughter, and Eleanor Bachisin, all of Monssen and Edward Kotcella, of Charleroi.

Sharing the honors of the party were Mr. and Mrs. Zdanziwicz, who were observing their wedding anniversary. They also received gifts and flowers from their children.

Pictures were taken and all appointments were in a blue and white color scheme.

Cindy Nickolich Is Baptized At St. John

Cindy Ann Nickolich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Nickolich, 807 Luce Ave., was baptized yesterday at 1 p. m. at St. John the Divine Russian Orthodox Church.

The Rev. John Govrusik officiated.

Godparents were Marie Sayka, of Belle Vernon and Melvin Nickolich, of Monessen.

A dinner was served for the godparents and the family and later there was open house for relatives and friends.

The baby received many gifts.

Marlene Ambrose Is Bride

Solemnized in St. Sebastian R. C. Church of Belle Vernon on Saturday, June 29, at 11 o'clock in the morning was the marriage of Marlene Ambrose and Jack H. France.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ambrose, of 512 Graham St., Belle Vernon and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Florence France of 131 Castner Ave., Donora, and the late Robert J. France.

The bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage and the nuptial vows were recited before the Rev. Henry Murphy.

White gladiolus decorated the church altar and ferns were entwined around the altar rail. Candelabra held tall lighted tapers on each side of the altar rail.

The bride wore a gown of cupioni and silk styled with a sabrina neckline, a basque bodice and short shirred sleeves. She wore elbow length cuffed mitts. Lace motifs of Alencon studded with sequins and pearls outlined the neckline and hip yoke which formed an apron effect at the back of the bouffant skirt, which ended in a chapel train.

Belgian Illusion

Her fingertip veil of lace edged Belgian illusion fell from a Dior bow headpiece. She carried a white satin covered Bible topped with a white orchid and white streamers intermingled with twining ivy and stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a white gold cross, a gift of the bridegroom.

Gloria Koslosky, a cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a street length gown of pink and rose chiffon with a matching headpiece and carried a bouquet of white pink topped carnations.

Flower Girl

Darlene Vargo, niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She wore a white nylon lace dress over pink with a pink satin sash. She carried a white satin pouch with flowers.

Robert France, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and the ushers were Fidel Ambrose, brother of the bride and Maurice Reynaard, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

A pink linen dress was chosen by the mother of the bride to wear to the wedding. Her accessories were white and her corsage was of pink and white roses. A similar corsage was worn by the mother of the bridegroom with her dress of pink lace and white accessories.

After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the Park Casino. A five tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table. Guests attended from Greenville, Jamestown, McKeesport, Pontiac, Mich., Pittsburgh, Donora, Monongahela, Wilmington, Del., Perryopolis, Charleroi and Monessen.

The new Mrs. France was wearing a mint green ensemble with white accessories and an orchid corsage, when she and her husband left for a southern trip. They will reside in Donora.

Teaches Here

The bride was graduated from Bellmar High School in 1952 and from California State Teachers ollege in 1956. She is presently a teacher in the Monessen Schools. The groom was graduated from Monongahela High School in 1950, served two years in the army and is now a senior at California State Teachers College.

Vacation Trip Is Planned By Sorority

Mary Lou Benek, 6716 Thomas Blvd., Pittsburgh, is state chairman for the Hawaiian "glamour tour" sponsored by Sigma Alpha Sigma, national non-collegiate working girl's sorority.

The trip is made possible through the sorority's vacation program for working women. The group will leave Chicago on July 13 on the Santa Fe's streamliner, "El Capitan" and will spend a day touring Hollywood. At midnight the party will leave by plane for Honolulu and then on to the Maui Palms Hotel and many other points of interest. They will spend four days at Waikiki.

A few reservations are still available and information may be secured from Miss Benek.

Boxing Show No Smashing Success

That professional boxing promotion in Jeannette last week was not exactly a smashing financial success. The gross gate came to $6,154, which shrunk to $5,548 after taxes. Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio and his party picked up $2000 for sparring a four-round exhibition. That didn't leave much for the rest of the card . . . Still promoter Mike Yennerell claims that the show returned a small profit . . . Gerald Meneski, football-basketball standout at Centerville High the past season, has received an appointment to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis . . . Penn State football coach Rip Engle is in the Far East conducting a clinic for Army personnel.

Eddie Stanky, former St. Louis manager and currently a coach for the Cleveland Indians, rates Stan Musial as the greatest all-around player in baseball today. Stanky thinks Ted Williams is the best hitter; Mickey Mantle, the most powerful batter; and Willie Mays, the best defensive player, but he picks Musial as the best "all-around." . . . Incidentally Stan is now sixth in the all-time home run standings with 370 to his credit. Ralph Kiner, former Pirate, had a total of 369 before retiring from the game.

Galiffa Ping Pong Star, Too

Did you know that Donora's Arnold Galiffa, the former All-American footballer at West Point, is also quite a ping pong player? Not only did Galiffa win 11 letters at the military academy but he reigned as the informal ping pong champ as well . . . Al Valiani, ex Monongahela High football-basketballer player, has earned his degree at Florida State University and is now manager of a department in a men's store at Jacksonville . . . Ed Drapcho, the fellow who pitched Penn State to a runner-up spot in the recent NCAA baseball tournament, won his first start with Reading in the Class A Eastern League, stopping Springfield, 3-2, on nine hits.

Bucky Grover, former Brownsville High athlete, has been reassigned to Paris, Ill., in the Midwest League after starting the season with Lafayette, La., in the Evangeline League. He had a 5-3 record for the southern nine . . . Remember Blair McMillin, the former Monongahela High football coach? His son, also named Blair, picked up his degree at Princeton earlier this month. He plans to enter Pitt's law school . . . With almost half the Mon Valley League season yet to play, the Monessen Ozarks still have a chance of making the post season playoffs if they play the type of ball they are capable of.

Grid Practice Not Too Far Away

And time goes by. In just a month and a half, scholastic football practice will begin. The opening date for WPIAL teams is August 18 . . . Incidentally Rostraver and Bellmar still have vacancies on their grid staffs. Both schools are in the market for assistant coaches . . . Fans will have a chance to look over the Midget Football League's swank new concession stand at Memorial Stadium on Wednesday evening when the Lions Club stages a big Independence Day show. The clowning stars of that promotion will be two of the city's more popular sports figures: official Dan (Boots) Salotti and Movie Club president Bob Mandarino.

Yankees Storm Back into First Place

Whack Kansas City Twice to Regain Top Spot in AL

By FRED DOWN

All this—and Don Larsen too!

That was Casey Stengel's reaction today as the New York Yankees stormed back into undisputed possession of first place in the American League on the wings of 2-1 and 5-1 victories over the Kansas City Athletics.

Harry (Suitcase) Simpson, acquired in the June 15 deal with Kansas City, delivered a two-run pinch double in the eighth inning to give the Yankees their opening-game triumph after ex-Yank Ralph Terry pitched no-hit ball for 7 1-3 innings.

Larsen hurled a brilliant four-hitter to complete the doubleheader sweep and gain his first victory as a starter since his historic World Series perfect game against the Brooklyn Dodgers.

To cap the day, Roy Sievers walloped a two-run 10th - inning homer to give the Washington Senators an 11-9 victory that knocked the Chicago White Sox out of a share of first place with the Yankees. The White Sox had rallied for four runs in the ninth inning to win the opener, 7-6.

Braves Hold NL Lead

Billy Loes pitched a four-hitter for his ninth victory as the Baltimore Orioles downed the Cleveland Indians, 12-3, and Jackie Jensen and Ted Williams homered to lead the Boston Red Sox to a 10-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers in the other American League games.

The Milwaukee Braves retained their half - game lead in the National League struggle when they beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-4 and 6-5. The incinnati Redlegs swept the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-1 and 6-2; the St. Louis Cardinals whipped the New York Giants, 7-1, after a 5-3 defeat and the Brooklyn Dodgers rebounded from a 3-2, 11-inning loss to defeat the Chicago Cubs, 5-1, in other games.

Larsen didn't walk a batter and yielded Kansas City's run on an eighth - inning homer by Hector Lopez. Tom Sturdivant won his seventh game in the opener although relief ace Bob Grim hurled the ninth.

Sievers' second homer of the day and 18th of the season enabled the Senators to gain a split in a wild double-header with the White Sox. It gave 12-game loser Chuck Stobbs his second victory. Ten - game winner Billy Pierce pitched the ninth to preserve the White Sox' opening-game victory. Larry Doby hit two homers.

Loes struck out nine as he notched his seventh straight victory for the Orioles, who won a series from the Indians for the first time since they returned to the American League in 1954. Six Orioles had two hits each in a 14-hit attack that started against Bob Lemon.

Jensen hit a grand slammer, Williams walloped a three - run homer and red-hot Frank Malzone had a two-run triple in a 10-hit Red Sox bombardment that dealt the Tigers their fourth consecutive loss and 10th in 13 games. Willard Nixon won his sixth game with help from Ike Delock for the Sox.

Ed Mathews hit a two-run homer in the 13th inning to give the Braves their sweep after they rallied for five runs in the eighth to win the opener. Hank Aaron homered in each game to bring his season total to 23. Relief pitchers Ernie Johnson and Dave Jolly were the winners.

Brooks Lawrence pitched a six-hitter for his ninth win and fourth in 10 days and then came out of the bullpen to retire the last batter in the second game of the Redlegs' sweep. George Crowe hit his 15th homer for the Redlegs.

Stan Musial, Del Ennis and Hobie Landrith homered and Lindy McDaniel pitched an eight-hitter for the Cardinals after Ruben Gomez became the National League's first 10 - game winner with a five-hitter in the opener. Willie Mays paced the Giants' attack in the first game with two triples and a double.

Danny McDevitt pitched a five-hitter to win his third game for the Dodgers after Ernie Banks doubled home Bob Speake in the 11th inning to give the Cubs the opening-game victory. A record total of 27 Dodgers struck out during the double-header, snapping the old mark of 24 for a double-header.

NL All-Stars Are 'Loaded'

Nationals Have Power Once Again

NEW YORK (UP) — The National League All-Stars, who have clobbered their American League rivals six times in the last seven years, once again will carry "a big stick" into next Tuesday's mid-season classic at St. Louis.

The aggregate batting average of the eight NL starters was .308 following week-end games, while the men who will play at least the first three innings for the AL are hitting at a .293 clip.

In addition, the National League squad is leading their rivals in total hits (663-550, home runs (91-80) and runs-batted-in (334-269).

Here are the individual batting averages of the All - Star Game starters, exclusive of the pitchers who will be selected by managers Casey Stengel of the Yankees and Walt Alston of the Dodgers this week:

NL Stars

Frick Choices

Musial, Mays and Aaron were named to the NL starting team by Commissioner Ford Frick after Cincinnati fans "elected" seven members of the Redlegs with a late-hour deluge of votes.

Center fielder Gus Bell and right fielder Wally Post were the starting lineup absentees, even though they were top vote-getters for their respective positions. Musial was named by Frick because it was originally believed that Redleg George Crowe had won the fans' votes for the first base position.

Robinson wound up as the top vote-getter in the balloting with 745,689 ballots, followed by Bailey with 737,851. In the American League, Williams out-polled Mantle, 255,969 to 253,010.

Touring Trackers Win for U. S.

By UNITED PRESS

Only a surprise defeat handed Olympic champion Charley Jenkins of Villanova at Berlin marred a brilliant record posted Sunday by touring American track and field stars in Europe.

Jenkins was upset in a 400-meter run, his Olympic title distance, by Manfred Poerschke of Germany who was clocked in 47.5 seconds to Jenkins' 48.1.

Arnie Sowell of Pittsburgh won the 400-meter run at Bordeaux in 47.1 seconds and Al Oerter of Kansas took the discus throw with a heave of 183 feet, 2¼ inches.

Ravens, Lions Meet For PONY Lead

The second-place Ravens will try to pull even with the front-running Lions tonight in PONY League activity at Ninth Street Park.

At the moment, the Lions head the chase by a full game. However a Raven win tonight will square things in the two-team chase.

The Birds lost some ground over the weekend when improving CIO scored a 2-1 decision.

The union boys got a great one-hit pitching performance from Harry Vernet.

Paces Winners

Anderson Karenchak paced the winners at bat with a two-bagger

That was the only game played on Saturday.

This evening CIO will meet the Eagles immediately after the Lions and Ravens go at it.

Saturday's line score follows

Ravens	100	000—1	1 0
CIO	002	00x—2	3 1

City Softball Resumes Tonight

MPSA, third in the City League standings, will meet the Ravens tonight in City Softball League action.

The MPSA boys, boasting a 4-2 record, have been idle for more than a week. Significantly they are only one game down in the all-important loss column to the front-running Cro-Ams.

Meanwhile the Ravens are laboring through their poorest season, having won just one game in seven assignments.

American Wins Italian Race

MONZA, Italy (UP) — Jimmy Bryan's only regret after winning the Monza 500 auto race was that most of Europe's top drivers had boycotted the event.

"I sure would have liked a crack at those top (European) guys," the cigar - chomping veteran from Phoenix, Ariz., admitted following his victory Saturday.

The continental speedsters, members of the newly - formed Professional Drivers Union, contended that the "high-speed" Monza track would be too dangerous and demanded it be run on the flat track.

Bryan, driving a Dean Van Lines Special, disproved the Europeans' claims by averaging 160.057 miles per hour and outdistancing the 11 other starters, eight of them Americans.

Braves to Meet White Sox Today

The first place Braves will take on the White Sox today in Minor League action.

Over in the Prep League, the second place Hilltops will tackle the White Sox.

So far both races have proceeded pretty much as everyone had predicted. The Braves and Hawks are ahead just as the pre-season dopesters surmised

Ozarks Appear At Perry Tonight In Valley Action

Monessen's fading Ozarks will travel to Perryopolis tonight in an effort to get back into the Mon Valley League race.

The Ozarks have slipped all the way down to a tie for sixth place.

However they are only three and a half games out of the first division. That means there are still playoff hopes if the Ozarks regain their early season form.

Manager Pappy Johnson is expected to call on Bill Mitnick, his mound ace, for this evening's assignment.

Other MVL games tonight will send Fayette City to Charleroi, Van Voorhis to New Eagle and West Newton to Donora.

The big game, of course, will match Fayette City against Charleroi. FC currently holds a game and a half lead in the chase and is up two games on the Charlerolans in the all-important loss column

Congressman Asks 'Fourth' Strike

WASHINGTON (UP) — Baseball fans who are in favor of giving every batter four strikes today were asked to write or wire Rep. Kenneth B. Keating.

The Republican congressman from New York admitted he was "half esrious" about his proposal, which he introduced last week during a House Judiciary Subcommittee hearing on anti - trust legislation affecting professional sports.

Keating confessed his interest in changing the current three - strike rule goes back to his boyhood days in upstate New York, when he always wanted one more whack at the ball during sandlot games.

Buffalo Man Is Top Walker

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Jim Hewson, Buffalo, handily won the Allegheny Mountain Assn. amateur 35-kilometer walk Sunday by heel - and - toeing from downtown Pittsburgh to Verona in 3 hours, 5 minutes and 30 seconds.

Alex Oakley, Toronto, Ont., finished second and veteran John Deni, Pittsburgh, third.

Wants New Golf Rules

By LEO H. PETERSEN

NEW YORK (UP)—Mrs. Jackie Pung said today she will ask the United States Golf Assn. "to lighten its scoring rules for women" in order to avoid a repetition of the mix-up which cost her the United States Golf Assn. "to tightpionship.

At the same time the Hawaiian-born housewife revealed that she already had received $2,520 in "consolation money" raised by well-wishers and said, "I'm fully recovered from that ordeal and have no hard feelings."

Mrs. Pung was disqualified after apparently winning the Women's Open championship Saturday when USGA officials discovered a mistake on her scorecard. Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., Mrs. Pung's partner, also was disqualified for a similar mistake and Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S.C., was declared the winner.

Mrs. Pung and Miss Jameson had signed scorecards crediting them with "fives" on the par-four fourth hole when they actually shot "sixes." Their total cards added correctly, however.

The confusion around the scoring table undoubtedly was a key factor in Saturday's mix - up. It was clear that Mrs. Pung's 72-hole total of 298 was enough for victory and she was besieged by photographers and well-wishers at the Winged Foot Club as she walked off the 18th green.

Skill in the playing of the bagpipes is promoted by various Highland societies in Scotland.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Unnatural Stand

The whole idea behind stance is to stay balanced while going through a series of movements that threaten balance.

Some people walk with the toes pointed outward while others tend toward an inward turn of the toes. A few walk with toes pointed straight ahead. In other words, people walk the way they do because it gives them the best and easiest balance — naturally. The same goes for standing still. You stand the way it is easiest (most natural) for you to stand.

So why point the toes in some unnatural direction when you stand to a golf ball?

Many aspects of a proper golf swing, I admit, do not come naturally. But this is one that does. So make it easy on yourself.

Venturi Posts at 75 at Country Club

M. Venturi fired a 75 score at Monongahela Country Club on Saturday and Ray Campbell and Ed Betus matched him yesterday as the three shared low gross honors for the weekend.

Yesterday's "kicker" leaders were: Bill Prah, 88-15-73; Richard Lawson, 83-10-73; William Goldstrohm, 88-15-74; William Hart, 88-15-73; Ray Campbell, 75-0-75; Dr. Paul Manon, 85-10-75; A. Grant, 85-10-75; Ed Betus, 75-0-75; Dr. H. Underwood, 82-7-75.

Saturday "kicker" winners were: W. K. Gray, 87-16-71; Tom Conte, 99-25-74; John Brazack, 84-9-75; C. R. McConnell, 88-9-80; A. Grant, 90-10-80; R. Polaski, 84-4-80; Dale Montgomery, 98 16-82; Jim Hamilton, 102-20-82.

French Boxer In U. S. Debut

NEW YORK (UP) — Germinal Ballarin, rugged French middleweight, makes his U.S. debut tonight at St. Nicholas Arena in a 10-rounder with Bob Provizzi of Freeland, Pa.

Their bout will be televised by DuMont at 10:30 p.m. edt.

Ballarin, 27, is favored at 2-1 because of his aggressiveness, ruggedness and punch. Provizzi, 26, is a comparatively light hitter who scored only five kayoes in his 37 bouts. But he's fast and tricky.

Pirates Lose Two to Braves

Bow 7-4 And 6-5 at Milwaukee

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates returned home from the west today clinging to seventh place by three percentage points over the Chicago Cubs.

The Buccaneers dropped a doubleheader to the Milwaukee Braves, 7-4 and 6-5, Sunday to wind up a long western swing. They will meet Philadelphia in a game tonight with Ronnie Kline scheduled to pitch for the Pirates and Jack Sanford for the Phillies.

After two days of idleness, Pittsburgh meets the Brooklyn Dodgers in an Independence Day doubleheader at Ebbetts Field and then moves over to the Polo Grounds to open a series with the New York Giants Friday.

Eddie Mathews hit a two-run 13th inning homer for Milwaukee Sunday to give the Braves their second victory of the day and their sixth straight. The double triumph enabled Milwaukee to hold first place by a half game over Cincinnati.

Aaron Starts Rally

Hank Aaron, who homered in each game, led off for the Braves in the 13th with a single and Mathews belted loser Luis Arroyo's third pitch over the left field screen to end the game.

The Braves' Felix Mantilla sent the game into extra innings with a ninth-inning, two-run homer. Bill Mazeroski gave the Pirates a short-lived 5-4 lead in the 13th when he singled and came around on a sacrifice, a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly.

In the opener, Mantilla started the Braves' game-winning rally in the eighth when he singled with the bases loaded for two runs. Milwaukee then added three more runs on singles by Carl Sawatski and Ernie Johnson and an error by Mazeroski.

Credit for the victories went to Johnson and Dave Jolly, both in relief. The losses were charged to Vernon Law and Arroyo.

Middlecoff Is Choice in Britain

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (UP)—Fans and oddsmakers alike had eyes only for Australia's Peter Thomson and America's Cary Middlecoff in the first qualifying round today for the British Open golf tournament, although as many as 266 players might tee off at the historic St. Andrews course.

Thirteen Americans were listed as likely starters, including former U.S. Open champion Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn.

Thomson has won the championship three straight times and is a 5-2 favorite with the bookmakers to repeat; Middlecoff, the second choice at 5-1, is the only man in the huge field given a real chance to beat the long-hitting Aussie.

Lock Haven Man Wins Skeet Title

HUNTINGDON, Pa. (UP)—A P. McCloskey, Lock Haven, held the Pennsylvania All-Gauge Skeet Championship today by virtue of a three-bird victory over W. M. Hollinger, Harrisburg, in a shoot-off that went 75 extra birds.

The two shooters were deadlocked with 98 each at the end of the 100-bird regular competition Sunday. They remained deadlocked at the end of the first string of 25 extra birds and again at the end of 50.

In the third string, McCloskey scored a perfect 25 to take the title when Hollinger missed three.

McCloskey teamed with his wife Anne, to win the couple title and Mrs. McCloskey nearly made it a clean sweep for the family when she came within one bird of the winner of the women's title, Mrs. Bredna Helmer, Pittsburgh, 1955 champion, who scored a 94.

Jackson May Be Under Spell

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK, April 1 (UP) — Sure, it's July 1, but the sleepy saga of Jimmy Grippo and the somnolent zephyr known libelously as "Hurricane" Jackson could only be told on April Fool's Day.

So here it is, April 1, and Jimmy Grippo, the svengali of sock, is dickering with Jackson's manager to hypnotize the heavyweight challenger. The great Grippo, who has been compared variously to Machiavelli, Cagliostro and "Evil Eye" Finkel, promises to make a tiger out of the tabby.

It could be an experiment which kills hypnotism deader than vaudeville.

Because there is a feeling here that, with or without benefit of hocus-pocus, knockout drops or shotguns, Jackson is going to need somebody to wake him up—before and after the bout with Floyd Patterson—rather than put him to sleep.

Grippo Trying Anyhow

But Grippo, who performs beautyrest marvels without benefit of Miltown, is a game one. Back in his pre-professional days he was a fight manager. At that time he had a box-fighter named Melio Bettina coming up to an important fight and Jimmy decided that under hypnosis he could convince Bettina he was unbeatable.

The difficulty was that Bettina never came out of the trance.

He walked into the ring, yawned once and before he could close his kisser, was hit right on the button with a clout which extinguished all his lights.

It must be admitted that Grippo has done a lot of practicing in the interim. He has hypnotized movie stars, who don't want to be fighters, and ball players, who never could fight. But since that sleepy-time night with Bettina he has shied away from pugilists with the grace of a cat burglar on an escalator.

But Jimmy, after years of practice, finally is ready to try his hand again and Lippy Breidbart, Jackson's manager, is listening like a hen-pecked husband. What, after all, can he lose?

There is a suspicion here that he already has started working on Jackson in an effort to transform him into a combination Geronimo, King Kong, Joe Louis and Jackson the Ripper.

Certainly it was Jackson's "Geronimo Day" when he showed up for the signing with Patterson dolled up in a crimson apache headband.

"Hypnotism and allied suggestive phenomena can prove themselves to be excellent mediums through which I can endow Hurricane Jackson with the necessary advantages to capture the title," Grippo insists.

Page Local Slips into First Place in Little League Race

For the first time this season, the American Division race of the Little League has somebody besides VFW in first place.

Page Local slipped into the top spot over the weekend without swinging a bat. The union boys sat by on Saturday and watched Park Service knock VFW into second place with a 7-4 upset.

In the National Division, the Elks moved into undisputed possession of first place by tripping first half champion CIO, 6-4.

One other game was scheduled, but the Lions wound up forfeiting to Legion when they could produce only eight players.

Two bills are on tap today in both divisions.

Park Service won behind James Saxon's pitching and hitting. He held the Vets to seven safeties and helped his own cause with a home run and double.

Richard Steele slammed a double and single for the Vets.

Kilpela Stops Rally

Ed Kilpela put out a last inning first to lead the Elks to their 6-4 triumph.

The losers tallied three times in the sixth inning but Kilpela called a halt by fanning the final batter.

George Katsuleris and Larry Davis each had two singles for the winners.

William Runfola and Eton Karenchak slapped homers for the losers.

Score by innings and standings follow:

Elks	010	032	—6	7	2
CIO	000	013	—4	5	3

Kilpela and Bergstedt; Nuzzaci and Karenchak; 2B — Frezzell; HR — Runfola, Karenchak; SO — Kilpela 8, Nuzzaci 8; WP — Kilpela.

Bennett Retains Ladies Net Title

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Marian Bennett retained her West Penn women's tennis championship on Sunday by turning back a determined bid by 17-year-old Wendy Gilmore.

Unranked Wendy captured the first set of the final match from her No. 1 seeded opponent and battled for 2½ hours before going down to defeat, 3-6, 6-4, 8-6.

In the men's singles, top-seeded Elks Slack gained the right to meet defending champion Joe Short for the title by beating Dr. Paul Steele, 6-3, 6-0, 6-2.

Western Plan On Disarmament All in Readiness

LONDON (UP) — The Western powers will offer to suspend nuclear tests on condition the Soviet Union will accept a nuclear disarmament package plan, informed diplomatic sources said today.

The sources said the Western plan is to be presented formally later this week to the five-power U.N. disarmament subcommittee currently meeting in London. One source said it may be brought up by Harold E. Stassen at Tuesday's meeting.

Western plans received a boost Sunday when Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, speaking in Dortmund, Germany, gave his backing to a key part of the disarmament plans — the creation of a European open skies inspection zone that would include German territory.

Diplomatic sources said the Western allies "all or nothing" package plan represented an apparent final defeat for those who oppose ending nuclear tests.

Pricedale Church Class in Meeting; Articles Are Read

The J. I. M. class of the Pricedale Union Church met Friday evening at the recreation hall for its regular monthly meeting.

Mary Worrell was leader and her topic was "Prayer." The meeting opened with prayer by Goldie Perney. The class sang, "Leave Your Burden at the Place of Prayer."

Mrs. Worrell read an article, "What Is Prayer." Verses on prayer were given by Virginia Weaver, Elizabeth White, Vera Neil, Mary Bush, Janet Patterson, Eva Williamson and Mary Echart.

Seasons of prayer were given by the Rev. George Guest, church pastor, Violet Baldwin, Eva Williamson, Mary Worrell, Vera Neil and Clarence Bush.

Comments on another article, "The Washerwoman's Prayer" by Mrs. Worrell, were made by Dorothy Bush and Goldie Perney "The Blessings of a Prayer Life" were read by Clara Williams and Violet Baldwin. Devotions closed with singing "Jesus Never Fails" and repeating John 3:16.

Mrs. Worrell, president, was in charge of the business session. Reports were read by Mary Echart, acting secretary and Violet Baldwin, treasurer. Roll call was answered with Bible verses.

Games were under the direction of Agnes Patterson and Goldie Perney. Hostesses were Clara Williams and Violet Baldwin. Hostesses for the next meeting will be Mary Carnes and Bernice Santmyer. Others present were Annie Bush, Clara Perney and Dorothy Ann Worrell.

Lt. and Mrs. Allen Troutman and children, Sharon and Allen, who has been stationed in Baltimore, Md., recently visited with Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Foor, of Belle Vernon, R. D. The Troutmans are preparing to leave for Germany.

Diane Hepple, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Hepple, has returned home after being a patient in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital. She underwent a tonsilectomy.

Marilynne Bush is vacationing with her grandmother, Mrs. H. F. Myers of Charleroi.

Larry Carter

Larry Carter At Presbyterian Youth Assembly

Among more than 1,800 Presbyterian young people who are attending the National Youth Assembly at Grinnell College this week is Larry Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. E F Carter, of Belle Vernon, R. D. 2.

Delegates attending the convention, the fourth Westminster Fellowship National Assembly, will represent every part of the United States and several countries overseas.

They will consider man's spiritual needs, God's answer, the devotional life and the social life.

The Assembly, which will close on Wednesday, will be geared to the concerns of high school youth. The program will include "Talk-it-over" sessions on such subjects as basic tenets of Christianity, the world-wide church, and the sparking of youth groups in the local church.

Work-shops relating to Westminster Fellowship activities will be conducted Speakers will include outstanding Presbyterian churchmen.

Scouts Car Wash

The newly-organized Explorer Post No. 1 of Fellsburg met on Thursday and made plans for a car wash next Wednesday.

The washing project will take place at Fells Methodist Church from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. Donations of $1.50 will be used for the purchase of camping equipment and to help finance a trip to Lake Pymatuning.

Queen Contestants

All girls attending Rostraver School from the 9th to 12th grades inclusive and wishing to be a contestant for Rostraver Twp. Fair Queen are asked to be at Rostraver Junior High School tonight at 7 p.m. for instructions.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Pierson and children, of Canton, Ohio, are visiting with Mrs. Pierson's parents, the Rev. and Mrs. George Guest. The Piersons' daughter Karen has been vacationing for several weeks with her grandparents and will return home with her parents.

Clarence Bush, of Pricedale, was guest speaker yesterday morning and evening at the Monessen First Baptist Church.

Mrs. Andy Haydu is confined to her home on Main St., Pricedale, with illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Gezzer, of Pittsburgh, visited over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. John Skurkay and family, of Johnson Ave.

Five Killed at 'Peace Rally'

HAVANA (UP) — Reports of gun battles, sabotage, widespread bombings and dozens of arrests reached Havana today from throughout the nation — the rebels answer to the government's huge "peace rally" Sunday at Santiago.

Five persons were killed and three injured in a gunfight on the outskirts of Santiago which broke out while government orators were calling on the populace to abandon violence as a political weapon.

The fight was between soldiers in a jeep and car thieves who opened fire.

Two soldiers were killed and a third wounded when the unidentified civilians opened fire. Other police gave chase and killed three of the men in the car. Two bystanders were wounded, one of them a seven-year-old boy.

The three-hour political rally itself was marred by occasional attempts to jam the radio transmission of the speeches. Occasionally there could be heard faint cries for rebel leader Fidel Castro and shouts of "Down with President (Fulgencio) Batista."

Saboteurs cut cables in Havana and other cities, blacking out the street lights and homes. Aronists set fires throughout Cuba.

NOTICE TO ALL WHO ARE PLANNING TO BUY AND INSTALL EITHER HEATING OR COOLING SYSTEMS FOR YOUR HOME NOW OR IN THE NEAR FUTURE. DON'T FAIL TO READ THIS.

On April 23, 1957 the established Dealers who sell and install heating and cooling in the Monongahela Valley and surrounding communities had an organizational meeting in order to determine ways and means to eliminate FAULTY, UNSAFE, and POOR or LOW QUALITY HEATING AND COOLING Installations that have been becoming more common and prevalent both in new construction and also in home modernization in the surrounding communities of the Monongahela Valley.

In subsequent meetings the MONONGAHELA VALLEY HEATING AND COOLING DEALERS ASSOCIATION was organized as a NON-PROFIT dealer association to render a public service to the community. Dedicated to foster and promote better relations with purchasers. To acquaint the public from time to time of new methods and product improvements in the industry. To act in an advisory capacity for technical advice.

1. Too often in the past, the customer has been sold a heating or cooling system of either poor quality or inadequate design, resulting in dissatisfaction and discomfort.
2. In many communities in our state there are no codes or standards set up to protect the customer against LOW QUALITY work or to prescribe minimum standards for SAFE AND EFFICIENT INSTALLATIONS, in the home or small business. Due to the increased demand for automatic heating and cooling systems, many individuals have gotten into the heating and cooling trade, call themselves experts or engineers with little or no past experience or training, have sold and installed these systems in an INEFFICIENT and sometimes FAULTY manner. The customer had no way of forcinng any adustment or changes, to rectify the faults, then possibly calling in another dealer to do the work right at an added cost to the customer.
3. Since all POORLY INSTALLED or UNSAFE installations are a direct reflection on the integrity of established dealers, it is of VITAL interest to each and every conscientious dealer to advise the prospective customer of OUR intent to protect them through an educational publicity program, and any other means available.

WE THE DEALER-MEMBERS AGREE: TO OUR CUSTOMERS

- To provide, sell and install only the best equipment and materials.
- To maintain standards in accordance with recognized national non-profit organizations such as, National Warm Air Heating and Air Conditioning Association, American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, American Society of Refrigeration Engineers and others.
- To acquaint the customer through publications what to ask for in a high standard, efficient installation.
- To advise how to determine unsafe or low quality work.

TO BE SURE OF COMFORT–QUALITY–SAFETY–EFFICIENCY IN YOUR FUTURE PURCHASE, PATRONIZE ONE OF THE LISTED DEALERS WHO HAS PLEDGED HIMSELF TO MAINTAIN THE STANDARDS OF OUR PROFESSION IN YOUR COMMUNITY.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our beloved husband and grandfather, William Savage, who passed away one year ago today, July 1, 1956.
Memories are treasures no one can steal,
Death leaves a heartache no one can heal,
Loved dearly in life and living yet,
In the hearts of the ones who will never forget.
Sadly missed by his Wife, Children and Grandchildren.

Pair Honeymoons Despite Parents' Alienation Suit

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP)— A young Milwaukee heiress and her Pennsylvania bridegroom honeymooned today at a secret location, disregarding his parents' $500,000 alienation suit.

Mary Lucille Werner and Leland Cummings Jr., both 21, were married Saturday, despite the efforts of Cummings' parents to halt the romance.

About 165 guests attended ceremonies in St. Matthew's Lutheran Church here to see the bride's parents give the union their blessing. Cummings' parents, who are Roman Catholics, did not attend.

Leland Cummings Sr., Wyncote, Pa., has filed a half-million-dollar suit against the bride's father, Arnold J. Werner, president of the Wagner Iron Works here. He charged that Werner alienated young Cummings by paying his tuition and other expenses at Harvard, ferrying him to Milwaukee in a private plane, and promising him a $25,000-a-year job.

Leland denied the charges and sided with his bride's parents in the dispute.

The suit is pending.

Cummings' parents refused to attend the wedding "under any circumstances," and said that their son had been "enticed" from his home and the Roman Catholic religion by Werner's wealth.

Red Bosses to Delay Visit in Czechoslovakia

LONDON (UP) — Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party chief Nikita Khrushchev were reported today to have postponed a scheduled visit to Czechoslovakia because of "Poznan-style" unrest in that Communist country.

They originally were scheduled to arrive in Prague Tuesday but cancelled the trip without making a formal annnouncement. Soviet sources in Prague said they are expected to visit the Czech capital next week.

Some sources compared the current unrest in Czechoslovakia to that in Poland which resulted in the bloody Poznan riots a year ago.

Bulganin told United Press correspondent Henry Shapiro in Moscow last week he expected to be in Prague July 2, but Shapiro arrived there Sunday only to learn from Soviet sources that the trip has been postponed to July 9.

Pastor Reunited With Family; Regains Memory

PASCO, Wash. (UP)—A clergyman who lost his memory while boating in Idaho two months ago said today regaining it was like "coming out of a tunnel."

The Rev. Andrew Daughters, 37, rector of the Episcopal Church here, was reunited with his wife and four sons Sunday night after "coming to" at a Sunday service in San Francisco's Grace Cathedral.

His family had believed him drowned in a sudden squall.

Daughters was unable to give any account of the weeks "lost out of my life." But he recalled the day he went boating on Lake Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, on April 26.

"I set out to paddle my boat across an arm of the lake after a conference at the church camp," he said. "A squall came up and it was rough, but the boat did not overturn. I remember docking the boat.

"The last thing I remember is stepping up on the dock. Then the next thing I remember is looking up outside the church in San Francisco. I remember the service only vaguely . . ."

Moon Execution Set for Sept. 30

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today fixed Monday, Sept. 30 for the execution of Norman W. Moon, who shot and killed Judge Allison D. Wade in a Warren County courtroom in January, 1954.

The state Supreme Court recently upheld a lower court ruling and refused to grant Moon a new trial.

Moon had been hailed into court on a non-support charge. He whipped out a pistol and shot down Wade as the judge prepared to call up Moon's case.

Westinghouse in Reactor Ceremony

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. announced today that groundbreaking ceremonies for the firm's nuclear materials testing reactor will be held July 8 near Waltz Mill, Pa., 29 miles southeast of here.

Special guests will include civic, industrial, government and educational representatives. The first industry-owned reactor of the type, the multi-million dollar installation is expected to be completed in 1958.

The Westinghouse testing reactor will be capable of irradiation testing of materials and components used in reactor construction and in the manufacture of equipment suitable for operation under nuclear conditions, according to the company.

Hal March Returns To Movies as Star

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — A one-time little known movie actor named Hal March returned to the movie business as a big star this week—at last giving him a chance to see his own phenomenal television show, "The $64,000 Question."

March, whose last picture job was an unbilled bit in an MGM musical, is back in town to star in a Paramount comedy, 'Hear Me Good."

The role opens up a new picture career for the handsome actor who fortunately was talked into being master-of-ceremonies for a CBS-TV quiz show that became a front-page show business event.

CBS-TV gave March time off from his program to become a movie star, so the job also allows him to see "The $64,000 Question" on TV for the first time. In March's absence, other stars are filling in for him in moving contestants up and down plateaus: Ed Sullivan, Victor Borge, Celeste Holm, Gene Kelly and Burt Lancaster.

Thanks To TV

"If I hadn't become some kind on TV entity this starring role in a movie never would have happened," said March when I visited his Beverly Hills Hotel room to watch him watching "The $64,000 Question."

"It's a comedy with dramatic moments. I play a literate con man from Broadway. The producer-director, Don McGuire, saw me do a 'Studio One' and sent me this movie offer."

March actually is a veteran of 12 movies, but roles few fans noticed. In his most recent film, "It's Always Fair Weather", he played a punch drunk fighter—a role so small he didn't even receive screen credit.

But by the time the movie was released, March was a household TV word.

"Suddenly I was billed in the ads and the theater lobby displays—over the star, Gene Kelly," he laughed. "Show business is crazy. Your status is changed overnight. Now I'm turning down movie roles that two years ago I would have given my right arm to do."

He turned to watching his TV show again. At that moment his replacement, Ed Sullivan, was stepping on the contestant's lines.

"Wait, Ed, wait!" March cried anxiously at the TV set.

"I coached Ed about four hours," he explained. "We practiced all possibilities such as a contestant losing or winning. Ed is doing a great job on the show."

March watched the screen carefully. Then, shaking his head in wonder, he said, "Well, after 2½ years and 106 shows, so this is the way it looks! I'll be goshdarned. You know—this is a pretty good show."

Shoots Mother, Then Takes His Own Life

CLEARFIELD, Pa. (UP)—Gormer Jones, 34, shot and killed his ailing mother and then killed himself Sunday in their two-story frame home in the village of Ginter.

Clearfield County Coroner Robert Heath said Jones got his two broters, who work in Western New York and were visiting for the week end, out of the house through a ruse.

Authorities said Jones then fired a shotgun blast point blank into the heart of his mother, Anna, 67, as she lay sleeping on a couch in the living room. Reloading the gun, he shot himself in the face.

The bodies were found by the brothers, Abraham and David, when they returned about an hour later. Gormer had asked them to go about 20 miles away to examine his automobile, which he had wrecked Tuesday. The car actually was in a wrecking yard about two miles away.

The coroner said Gormer quit work recently to care for his mother, who had suffered fits of mental depression since the death of another son in World War II. Heath said Gormer apparently had planned to take his own life and decided to kill his mother so that she would not be left without him.

Abraham worked in Buffalo and David in Lockport, N.Y., and they returned home only on week ends.

Approximately one-third of the area of the United States is classified as forest.

Your Health—

Diptheria Is Still Dangerous Disease

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Sometimes you can do a job too well.

It's ironic but the very fact that diphtheria is now pretty much of a rarity is complicating its complete control. We have done such a good job of stamping out this dread disease that all too few persons now regard it as a serious threat.

Time was when the fact that a child had a sore throat and a slight fever was enough to make his frightened parents immediately summon the doctor. These familiar symptoms were readily recognized as possible diphtheria by virtually everyone.

Also, there were few persons who didn't take advantage of the protection offered by the toxoid medical science had developed to save them.

But who thinks about diphtheria these days? How many persons do you know who have been stricken with the disease? This is precisely our problem!

We haven't had one case of diphtheria in Chicago for several years. But diphtheria isn't licked yet. Some 2,000 cases are reported throughout the country every year. Furthermore, studies indicate that 25 to 50 per cent of our adult population may be susceptible to the disease!

When diphtheria was more prevalent, persons who acquired immunity either from the toxoid injections or from having the disease in a recognized or unrecognized form, kept their immunity throughout life.

By being exposed to the disease from time to time, they received natural boosters. Today, there is not enough diphtheria around to provide these natural boosters. Children and adults, too, lose their immunity if they do not get periodic booster shots.

I strongly urge that all babies be given toxoid injections in a series of two or three shots between the ages of three to six months. Now it's vitally important that these inoculations be followed by a booster shot in about one year and additional boosters every three years thereafter.

Steel Production Shows Another Drop

CLEVELAND (UP)—Steel production dropped another two percentage points last week, and Steel Magazine expected another drop this week, which will send steel output to its lowest mark of the year.

"In steel production and consumption, the year's low points are expected to be hit over the July 4 holiday, with ingot production slipping several points," the publication said.

In the week ended June 30, the national ingot rate was 86 per cent of capacity, yielding 2,201,161 net tons.

Despite the steel price increase which went into effect today, the steel buying is picking up slowly. Most of the tonnage is in sample orders of from one to 100 tons for use in die tryouts.

The magazine noted a reversal of the trend toward lower stocks of major industrial components—such as castings, fasteners, gears and bearings—in its latest quarterly survey. Sixty-five per cent of buyer respondents plan to maintain present stocks, 12 per cent will add to them and 23 per cent will continue cutbacks.

In another survey Steel polled 5,000 general managers of metalworking plants. Findings in the poll showed prospects for a pickup the second half were good.

"Metalworking sales volume is headed for a record this year," Steel said, and estimated the volume would be 138 million dollar compared to $133,500,000 in 1956. Second half sales are expected to be 3.8 per cent over the first half's.

At Least Eight Are Casualties of Traffic

By UNITED PRESS

At least eight persons were killed in traffic accidents in Pennsylvania during the weekend, which saw a complete about-face in the weather.

The weekend started stormy as the remnants of Hurricane Audrey brought heavy rains and gale-force winds to Western Pennsylvania. But on Sunday the weather changed to sunny and fair and motorists took to the roads in heavy numbers.

Two of the victims were killed by trains.

Reading: A three-car collision on a rain-slicked bridge here Saturday took the lives of Robert Stauffer, 25, Farview, and Frances P. Larking, 20, Reading. They died shortly after the accident in which five other persons were injured, two critically. The accident occurred when a car in which the two victims and four other employes of the City Bank and Trust Co., were returning from a party, skidded, struck a car in the opposite lane and careened into another machine.

Smithton: Amel Taoli, 56, Smithton quarry worker, was killed on Sunday when he was struck by an eastbound Baltimore and Ohio Railroad train near his home.

Berwick: William Shaffer, of Berwick, was killed Saturday when he was struck by a Delaware, Lackawanna and Western freight train as he crossed the tracks on the way home from fishing in the Susquehanna River.

Aliquippa: W. Michael Low, 14, New Brighton, was injured fatally Friday night when the automobile in which he was riding collided headon with another machine on the Aliquippa-Monaca Boulevard. State police said a car driven by Mike Martin, Aliquippa, crossed the highway into the path of a machine driven by John McCullough, Monaca. Both drivers were injured. Low was a passenger in the Martin machine.

Berwick: Donald Price, 2, Berwick, was injured fatally Sunday when he darted from between parked cars into the path of a machine driven by Dorothy Hart, Berwick RD 1.

Beaver Falls: Mrs. Henry Zeh, 58, Enon Valley, was killed Friday night when a car driven by her husband was struck by a machine driven by Edgar J. Bowman, Beaver Falls. Both drivers were hurt.

Altoona: James L. Bobb, 29, Carlisle, died in Mercy Hospital Saturday of injuries suffered when his automobile, in which he was driving five women state employes home from Harrisburg for the weekend, collided with another machine at an intersection during a heavy rain storm. Nine other persons were injured including Bobb's passengers.

Cool Cows Gain

EL CENTRO, Calif. (UP)—The University of California's Imperial Valley field station disclosed today how it keeps its cows contented in the summer heat. The cows are cooled with 42-inch electric fans that whip up a four mile an hour breeze. Field station specialist Nicholas R. Ittner said the cool cows gained 32 per cent more weight daily over their unfanned sisters.

Just Second Here

MINEOLA, N.Y. (UP)— Mrs. Jeannette Dempsey, in court Friday to charge her husband Charles with assault because he allegedly bopped her on the head with a bottle, told the judge Dempsey should also get his facts straight. Dempsey said he hit his wife because she spent an hour hugging and kissing his best friend. Said Mrs. Dempsey: "It isn't so. It was more like 20 minutes."
